Superior Court Judge Says Menendez Tapes May Be Used in Trial

A Superior Court judge in Santa Monica, Calif., has ruled that conversations between Lyle and Erik Menendez and their psychologist after the murder of the young men's parents are not privileged and can be used as evidence in the murder case against them.

Judge James Albracht said Monday that the psychologist, Leon J. Oziel, believed that Erik and Lyle Menendez made threats during therapy sessions or other conversations, and that disclosing these conversations was necessary to prevent danger.

Such a threat constitutes an exception to the psychologist-patient privilege, said Judge Albracht, applying this exception to all taped conversations between Lyle, 22, Eric, 19, and their therapist.

According to the prosecution, the tapes contain damaging admissions by one or both brothers about the killing of their parents, Jose and Kitty Menendez.

Tapes exist of counseling sessions between the brothers and Dr. Oziel from October, 1989, to December, 1989, said Judge Albracht. Relatives, however, have said both the brothers and their parents were in therapy with Dr. Oziel before the murders.

Jose and Kitty Menendez were slain August 20, 1989, at their $5 million Beverly Hills home.

According to a Los Angeles Times report, the tapes include only one actual therapy session. The rest are conversations that took place outside a formal therapeutic setting.

Defense attorneys for the brothers announced they would appeal Judge Albracht's ruling to the California Supreme Court, if necessary, to prevent the tapes from being used in the prosecution.

Township-Wide Garbage Collection Recommended in Engineer's Report

The Township is moving toward municipal-wide garbage collection. On Monday, Township Committee discussed a report on the subject prepared by Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser who recommends that the Township pursue implementing municipal solid waste collection. Committee suggested that he prepare bid specifications, although there are several aspects of such a program that have yet to be decided.

If the Township goes ahead with municipal garbage collection it would include pick-up of heavy household items on a weekly or twice-weekly basis rather than during a special spring and fall clean-up. This past spring the volume of clean-up items put out for collection more than doubled any previous pick-up, Mr. Kiser says. As a result, it took five weeks rather than the planned three weeks to complete the clean-up.

The tipping fee alone cost the Township the entire $60,000 budgeted for 1990 spring and fall cleanup. The tipping fee is the charge for disposing garbage at a transfer station or landfill. Mercer County wastes go to a transfer station in Ewing Township and are hauled to GROWS landfill in Falls Township, Pa., for final disposal.

Mr. Kiser told Committee that this cost did not include overtime or the extra trucks needed to complete the clean-up, nor did it take into account the fact that the energies of the Public Works Department were spent on clean-up for five weeks at the expense of other projects. The possibility of eliminating spring and fall clean-up except for organic wastes such as garden debris is one of Mr. Kiser's principal reasons for recommending that the Township pursue municipal garbage collection, but the report lists other advantages as well.

Currently, the Township collects garbage from eight small

Tom Poole Bows Out of Race for Township Committee; Ellen Souter Will Take His Place on Republican Ticket

Citing business reasons, Township Committeeman Thomas Poole has decided to bow out of the race for a third term this fall. Ellen F. Souter will take his place on the Republican ticket along with former Township Police Chief Frederick M. Porter Jr.

At a press conference Monday morning attended by party faithful, Mr. Poole said it had not been an easy decision to make, but at this stage in his career he wants to devote 100 percent of his time to business. Being a self-employed consultant allows him flexibility to attend day time as well as evening meetings, but the amount of time he has spent on Township business over the past six years has cut into his earnings, he explained.

Mrs. Souter, wife of former Township Magistrate Sydney S. Souter, has had a career in banking and has been involved in volunteer activities at schools and also at Princeton Medical Center. A graduate of Villa Victoria Academy, she started her banking career in 1964 with the Ewing Bank and Trust Company in public relations and new accounts. She joined the Hamilton Bank in 1971 as personnel director and public relations manager and was promoted to assistant secretary in 1972, administrative vice president in 1974 and full vice president in 1976.

Married to Mr. Souter in 1974, she left banking to start a family in 1977. Obtaining a real estate license in 1978, she has worked part time in residential sales. She was chairman of Princeton Medical Center's Fall Rummage Sale in 1982 and co-chairman of the 1990 Hospital Fete. She is a member of the Auxiliary board and the rummage sale steering committee.

SEEKING OFFICE: Ellen F. Souter has joined former Township Police Chief Frederick Porter Jr. as a Republican candidate for Township Committee.

Ms. Souter said that although she had never run for elected office before, it seem-

Deer Committee Requests Hunting Township Land

The Environmental Commission's ad hoc deer committee has been quietly assigning bow hunters to properties on which the owner has given permission in hopes of reducing the herd somewhat.

But the fact that deer-car collisions are on the rise again, and the female does are producing triplets this summer and deer are more in evidence than ever has prompted the committee to ask if the Township will allow bow hunters on Township-owned property.

According to Committeeman Tom Poole, who reed "a logical step" to take in the light of her previous activities. Alluding to "closed door meetings," "a mayor who pushes her own projects" and a rising tax rate under the present administration, she seemed to promise a feisty campaign against Mayor Kate Litvack and Michael Washington on the Democratic ticket.

Mayor Litvack will be seeking a second consecutive term, which is actually her third since first being elected to Township Committee in 1977. She was not successful in her bid for re-election in 1980. Mr. Washington, a field engineer with Eastman Kodak, ran unsuccessfully for School Board several years ago.

Mrs. Souter said she would run a campaign based on issues and getting people involved in their community. "I will listen to people and what they want for their community," she promised. She used the phrase "a current mess" in apparent reference to the Democratically-controlled Township Committee as she spoke of position papers she and her running mate Mr. Porter would be issuing on taxes, development and an "open door campaign."

Richard Woodbridge, the only Republican on Township Committee other than Mr. Poole, said his disappointment at learning that his colleague had bowed out "turned to a feeling of happiness" when he learned of Mrs. Souter's selection on what he described as a "wonderful ticket." Mr. Woodbridge pointed out that in the June primary Mr. Porter's support among Township Republicans was high in comparison with other Republican candidates on the ballot.

Community Involvement

He compared Mrs. Souter's background of community involvement to that of former Township Committeewoman Carol Wojciechowicz who had also headed the Hospital Fete shortly before becoming a candidate for Committee.

Mr. Porter hos been a Princeton resident since his discharge from the U.S. Army in 1946 after serving overseas in Okinawa and Korea. He received several awards ond ribbons during his two-year tour of duty. He joined the Township Police Department in 1952 and in 1958 was given the title of investigator. Promoted to the rank of detective sergeant in 1961, he was put in charge of the Detective Bureau.

Fred Porter
Committee Condidote

He was promoted to lieutenant in 1968 and to chief of police in 1970. He served as chief for 10 years, until he retired in 1980 and entered private business as a security consultant. His resume contains a long list of awards and certificates of appreciation from various civic organizations.

He said that after 30 years of working for the Township in the Police Department he felt he owed the residents something. He said he was "elated" to have Mrs. Souter as a running mate. "We see eye to eye, and we can communicate well," Mr. Porter remarked, adding: "Better communication is what is needed in the Township."

First Elected in 1984

Mr. Poole was first elected to Township Committee in 1984 along with incumbent Republican Gail Firestone, who became mayor in June, 1986, when Winthrop Pike moved out of the Township six months before his term was due to expire. Mr. Poole was named deputy mayor. He was re-elected to a second three-year term in 1987, but his career as deputy mayor ended along with any hope of being mayor because the Democrats regained control of Township Committee when Mrs. Litvack defeated his running mate Toms Royal at the polls.

Mr. Poole has been fire commissioner throughout his two terms and served on the Planning Board for several years when the Republicans were in control as well as on the Housing Board. This year he was assigned to the Sewer Operating Committee and returned to the Environmental Commission, where he had been particularly active on the Ad Hoc Deer Committee trying to find an acceptable solution to the deer problem.

He said he would regret leaving Township Committee when his term is up on December 31, "because it is so much fun," and because there are so many things he would like to see happen. He called Mrs. Souter an "outstanding" candidate who would make an outstanding member of Committee.

Township Police Catch 2 After High-Speed Chase

Princeton Township police caught up with a pair of motorcycle riders last Saturday morning after a high-speed chase ended on Hunt Drive.

At 11:35 a.m., Hopewell Township police alerted the Township that they were in pursuit of two men on motorcycles, riding east on Cherry Valley Road. A Township patrol car spotted the pair near the intersection of Cherry Valley and Route 206.

With the patrol car in pursuit, the motorcyclists sped south on Rt. 206, weaving in and out of traffic at a high rate of speed. They turned right onto Mountain Avenue, right on The Great Road, and then left into the Winfield Drive/Hunt Drive cul-de-sac, near the intersection of Mountain Avenue and The Great Road.

Realizing their mistake, the men pulled up at a Hunt Drive residence, and tried to hide their bikes. They then knocked on the door and told the homeowner their bikes had broken down and they needed a ride. Moments later Township police came by, spotted one of the cycles, and saw the two men in the homeowner's car.

Placed under arrest were Arthur P. Ceresina, 32, Paxon Road, Trenton, and his easy rider companion, Nicholas A. Derrico, 29, Ewingville Road, Trenton. The two, who were released on their own recognizance, face a variety of motor vehicle charges and a criminal charge of eluding a police officer in both Princeton and Hopewell township courts.

That was the extent of the excitement last week in the Township; other items on the police report were definitely more mundane.

A JVC AM/FM cassette CD player, valued at $600, was stolen out of a Honda parked on Juniper Row between 11:30 p.m. July 29 and 8 a.m. the next morning. A flat object had been used to try and unlock the door on the driver's side, and when that failed, the window on that side was smashed to gain entrance.

Chased by 11 Officers

On July 27 around 11 a.m., a passing Township patrol car noticed a youth at the door of a house on Snowden Lane. When he saw the car, the youth took off, running back toward Nassau Street, behind the Jewish Center, and then to Riverside Drive West.

A joint force of 11 Borough and Township officers became engaged in the chase (the Borough/Township line runs through the area) and the boy was finally caught at the intersection of Snowden and Riverside. Questioning revealed the 17-year-old Somers Point juvenile worked for United Subscription Services, Inc. of Ft. Worth, Texas, and was selling magazine subscriptions door-to-door. He told police he panicked and ran when he saw the patrol car slow down as it passed the house.

Two other juveniles, 17-year-old Township residents, and an 18-year-old, were up to no good in the early morning hours last Saturday. They were apprehended at 1:28 a.m. stealing street signs. When police — who were notified by a Princeton University proctor — arrived, they had managed to bag signs for Butler Avenue, Western Way, Devereux Avenue and FitzRandolph Road.

The 18-year-old was identified by police as James Gray, of 83 Philip Drive. He was charged with receiving stolen property. The two 17-year-olds were charged with juvenile delinquency.

An 8:40 a.m. call on August 1 sent patrol cars and one fire engine to answer a call of "smoke in the house" at a Finley Road home. Upon arriving they were directed to an upstairs bathroom where sunlight reflecting off a magnifying face mirror had scorched a small portion of a wooden louvered shutter on a bathroom window.

Finally, a Somerville resident is poorer but wiser after trying to unload his boat from

Public Meeting on Tusculum Use

The Tusculum Use Committee invites all Princeton residents to a public meeting Wednesday, August 1S, at 7:30 p.m. in the Valley Road Administration Building. The Tusculum committee is soliciting the public's suggestions for using the Tusculum tract, 82 acres of beautiful and historic land off Cherry Hill Road.

If purchased by the Township, should the lands become the site of: A public or private school? Active recreation fields? Indoor recreation space? Passive open space? Regional arts and cultural center? Youth center? Senior center? Historic foundation headquarters? Princeton Township Municipal Center? Conference center?

The Tusculum Use Committee wants to hear the puhlic's opinion before it recommends that the Township spend millions on the purchase of the property.

The entire property off Cherry Hill Road and behind the Mountain Lakes site has been offered for sale to Princeton Township. At a meeting June 25, Township Committee appointed an Ad Hoc Tusculum Use Committee, chaired hy Barhara Smoyer. The committee was charged with recommending how the community would reap the most benefit from the property.

The Tusculum Committee does not bear the responsihility of worrying about where to get the money to purchase the estate. Its members are working under the assumption that the money would be available for the purchase, if the Township Committee and residents should decide that such a purchase was in the best interests of the community. Green Acres has approved a grant of $250,000 to the Township to assist In acquiring about 33 acres — largely wetlands — next to Mountain Lakes and the John Witherspoon Woods. The Township also has included $750,000 In the 1990 budget to be used toward the acquisition. Since land appraisals are still taking place, no purchase price haa been set, although it is estimated at several million dollars.

The meeting on Wednesday, August 1S, is meant to be a one-way channel of communication — the ideas coming from the public to the committee members. Since the committee has until the end of September to come up with its recommendations, the members will simply act as sponges and soak up all of the public's thoughts on Tusculum.

For further information, call committee member Pam Hersh at Princeton University, 258-3018.

Money for Bridge Link Is Approved by Senate

Travelers to the shore can expect relief from traffic jams now that the United States Senate has passed a bill that will fund construction of a bridge linking I-295 in Burlington County and I-195 in Mercer County.

There has been heated debate for more than six years on the design and funding for the six-lane bridge, which is expected to cross nine acres of wetlands near Crosswicks Creek.

A $10 million appropriation for the 1,600-foot bridge was included in a transportation bill that passed the Senate Saturday. A spokesman for Sen. Frank R. Lautenberg, sponsor of the bill, said further debate on the appropriation was unlikely.

The House passed a similar hill in July. Although differences in the bills still must be worked out by House and Senate negotiators, Sen. Lautenberg's spokesman, Steve Schlein, said funding will not be an issue.

First designed in 1982, the bridge called for the extension of I-295 from the interchange of I-295 and I-195 in Hamilton Township.

This design, by the Federal Highway Administration (FHA), called for a 500-foot link, costing $5.6 million. The State Department of Environmental Protection in 1984 refused to approve the bridge, which would have destroyed wetlands.

According to State Department of Transportation spokeswoman Debbie Lawler, delays continued when the FHA refused to provide the additional $4 million in funding for the larger bridge. She added that an investigation showed that, basically, the FHA is required to pay for the bridge.

The project is expected to be completed in 1994, said Ms. Lawler.

Part of a larger project, the Trenton Complex, the bridge will connect Route 29, Route I-195, Route I-295 and the planned Route 129.

Candlelight Vigil Held By Incinerator Foes

A group of about 100 protesters last night staged a candlelight vigil outside Drumthwacket, the Governor's mansion, to protest the construction of trash incinerators.

They brought with them numerous petitions supporting their cause.

In a speech to the crowd gathered at the the front gate, Fred Munson of Greenpeace asked for a three-year moratorium on incineration.

During his term in office, former Gov. Thomas Kean proposed the building of one incinerator in each of New Jersey's 21 counties. Construction had already begun on several when Gov. Jim Florio, fulfilling a campaign promise, declared a 120-day moratorium on incinerator construction.

The moratorium was due to expire Tuesday, August 7.

According to anti-incinerator activists, the Governor's task force on the issue is expected to recommend that incinerators be built on a regional basis instead of in each county.

The New Jersey Association of Counties has written Gov. Florio in support of the incinerators as the only viable way to make the State self-sufficient in its waste management.

On the other side of the issue, activists call any incineration undesirable, and contend that the State's solid waste problems can be solved with a combination of recycling and composting of organic waste.

Attorney Named Overseer At Nassau Broadcasting

A New Brunswick attorney has been ordered by a State judge to take control of Nassau Broadcasting Co., 221 Witherspoon Street, and investigate allegations by two top officials who are accusing each other of diverting money from the radio company for personal use.

Mercer County Superior Court Judge Paul G. Levy on July 24 named Arthur H. Miller to act as special fiscal agent. He will also function as interim chief executive officer until the investigation is complete.

On June 23, a lawsuit was filed by John J. Morris, president and chief executive officer of the company, charging the company's largest shareholder, Louis F. Mercatanti Jr., with diverting more than $1 million from WHWH and WPST to pay for phony consulting fees and failed real estate deals.

In a response filed in Superior Court, however, Mr. Mercatanti charged that Mr. Morris gave advertisers free radio spots worth hundreds of thousands of dollars in exchange for cars, diamonds, airline tickets, jewelry and furs.

Suit a Smokescreen

The Times of Trenton reported that Mr. Mercatanti — who led an investor group in an $8 million buyout of Nassau Broadcasting in 1986 — said Mr. Morris' suit was a smokescreen to deflect attention from his own misconduct.

Mr. Morris is scheduled to retire from the company on October 31, according to court papers.

Mr. Mercatanti alleged that this was a "preemptory first strike" by Mr. Morris to deflect his imminent termination from Nassau for gross mismanagement and for converting and stealing corporate assets.

The court-appointed overseer, Mr. Miller, declined to discuss the allegations of either man. He said, however, that the company is solvent and sound financially.

47 Years with Company

Mr. Morris has been with Nassau Broadcasting for 47 years, rising from general sales manager to general manager and chief executive officer. He acquired a 19 percent stake in the company and is now the second largest investor next to Mr. Mercatanti. In 1980, he was named to the board of directors.

John J. Morris

In 1986, an investor group led by Mr. Mercatanti acquired the company from Herbert Hobler, then the majority stockholder, in a leveraged buyout.

Mr. Mercatanti and his father, Louis Sr., were installed on the board. With Mr. Morris and his son Michael, the four men made up the company's board of directors.

According to allegations by Mr. Morris contained in his suit, Mr. Mercatanti, since acquiring the company, has paid $680,000 in consulting fees to a company called M&M Equipment Inc., which "on information and belief" is owned or controlled by Mr. Mercatanti.

Mr. Morris said he not only never approved the transaction, but the consulting services never took place.

Also a Realty Corp.

Mr. Morris also alleged that, through an entity known as Nassau Broadcasting Realty Corp., Mr. Mercatanti sought to acquire real estate for his own benefit or in the name of various companies of which he allegedly was part owner.

Other allegations by Mr. Morris charge Mr. Mercatanti with losing a $100,000 deposit, made with Nassau Broadcasting money, when a deal to buy Walsh Golf Range in Hopewell Township fell through; and with entering Nassau Broadcasting, without approval of the board, into a $4 million agreement to buy property in Hopewell from the Pennington Road Limited Partnership. The loan was found in default, and the court ordered the company to pay $337,000 to the partnership, according to court papers.

Mr. Morris also alleged that Mr. Mercatanti refinanced the company with a $9 million loan, and used some of the proceeds to discharge his real estate and other obligations unrelated to the operation of Nassau Broadcasting.

About $1.2 million of the loan proceeds were deposited in a trust account held by Crow, Treichler & Tartanella, a Montgomery Township law partnership also named as a defendent in the suit.

For his part, Mr. Mercatanti's response accused Mr. Morris of bartering, or giving away, the radio station's money, by accepting personal gifts from advertisers and giving them free radio spots in return.

Mr. Mercatanti alleged that Mr. Morris personally received "an astounding number of goods and services," including at least five automobiles ... a fur coat, a diamond ring, a gold tennis bracelet, free airline tickets for himself and his family and receptions for members of his family amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Mr. Mercatanti accused Mr. Morris also of giving away millions of dollars a year in free advertising.

Princeton University Sued In '89 Death of Freshman

The family of a Princeton University freshman killed in a hit-and-run accident while on the University's "Outdoor Action Program" last fall has filed a suit in Superior Court against the University.

The family of Austin Nahm, 18, is seeking a jury trial and damages, claiming that the University was negligent in its supervision of the three-day trip.

About 400 freshmen participate each year in the outdoor program, which is held the week before freshman orientation. It includes camping, hiking, and canoeing.

After canceing in the Pine Barrens, Mr. Nahm's group stopped to carry its boats across Route 542 in the Crowley's Landing area of Washington Township. The young man was struck hy two passing cars.

The case remains unsolved.

$18 Million Is Raised In University Fund Drive

Princeton University's Annual Giving program has set a new all-time record hy raising more than $18 million during the fiscal year 1989-90.

Figures from this year's program, which ended June 30, show that nearly 35,000 alumni, parents and friends of Princeton made contihutions totalling $18,605,030. The amount raised represents an increase of $344,117 over the previous year. Aiumni participation was 55.4 percent, one of the highest participation rates for annual fundraising programs among American colleges and universities.

Some highlights of the 1989-90 program include:

• Four classes set new major reunion records–1925, 1965, 1970 and 1980.

• Five major reunion classes exceeded $t million–1940, 1950, 1055, 1965 and 1970. The Class of 1965 set a 25th reunion and all-time Princeton record in raising $3,085,10t--the second class to raise more than $3 million.

• Thirty-two non-reunion classes surpnssed $100,000.

• The Gradunte Sehool established its best mark ever nt $324,043.

• Contributions from non-nlumnl parents renched nn nll-time high of $1,098,t52.

Silverware and Wallets Are Targets in Borough

The value of silver is n fraction of what it once was, but silverware is still an attrnctive target for thieves.

Sometime between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. last Thursdny, someone entered n home on Mercer Street through an enclosed porch window and took siiver flatware from a china closet. The screen on the window had been poked in, and the window was nnlocked.

Other silver pieces in the dining room were left behind, but the house was ransacked, and some jewelry items were also taken. Police do not yet have a description of those.

Wallet thefts never go out of style, and two were snatched from University buildings last week.

The first was taken from a purse belonging to a woman working in the Computer Science Building on Olden Street. She had left her purse under her desk, and had stepped away for a moment. The purse was recovered, minus $12 in cash.

A man staying in Edwards Hall, a campus dormitory near Blair Areh, was asleep in his room July 31 when someone entered and slipped his wallet out of his pants. He lost $36 in cash and the wallet as well. The victim snid he thought he had locked the door, but there were no signs of forced entry.

It's apparently never too young to start a life of crime, and a small boy, judged to be around t1, ripped off a collection cannister from Thomas

Make It a Big Tree When Locking a Bike

A Dickinson Street resident found to his dismay last week that locking his hike to a tree still did not deter this thief.

His $300 Trek mountain bike was chained to a 12-foot-high Maple tree the night of August 1, but was gone the next morning. For that matter, so was the tree. All that remained was a 2½-foot stump and a pile of sawdust.

If caught, the thief will not only face charges of stealing a hicycle, but destroying Borough property as well.

The previous evening another Dickinson Street resident also discovered a locked hike is not safe. His $300 Bianchi mountain hike had the wheel locked to the frame, hut it was removed from the front porch of his home.

Considering what lengths some people will go to, the theft of another $300 Trek mountain hike the afternoon of August 1 was a piece of eake. It was standing unlocked in front of a Witherspoon Street restaurant while its owner had lunch.

Keeping an eye on it from a window, he saw a hlack male get on the bike and start to ride away. Leaping from his tahle, he ran outside, hut was unahle to stop the theft.

Sweet on Palmer Square last Sunday afternoon. Scoopers waiting on customers had noticed the boy loitering around the cannister, which was collecting funds for the Humane Society.

They tried to keep an eye on him, but at some point, both the boy and the cannister, containing an estimated $50 to $60, disappeared. The four-foot-tall stocky youngster, sporting two gold earrings, was last seen riding a BMX bike away from the scene.

Court Levies $500 Fine On Landlord in Borough

Salvatore LaPlaca, Moore Street, was fined $500 by Judge Russell Annich in Borough Municipal Court on Monday. The case was brought by Housing Inspector Rocky Innocenzi because Mr. LaPlaca had not repaired violations at the building he owns at 18-20 Pine Street.

The three units were inspected April 30 by Mr. Innocenzi, who found numerous violations, said Borough Health Officer Bill Hinshillwood. These included smoke detectors that were either not working or missing, evidence of roach infestation, and electrical wiring hazards.

Mr. LaPlaca was given until June 30 to repair the violations. A re-inspection on July 6 by Mr. Innocenzi showed very little progress, said Mr. Hinshillwood. A further inspection on Monday morning showed no additional progress, he added.

The Health Department is currently preparing a schedule for making the necessary repairs. This will be sent to Mr. LaPlaca.

Commitment Continued To Saving Neighborhoods

Township Committee has agreed to a state request to put in writing by Friday its commitment to continuing the state-funded Neighborhood Preservation Program in the John-Witherspoon neighborhood.

According to Susan Repko, Township housing manager, in order for the program to continue in the Township, the municipality must make a "substantive" commitment to the program. The commitment could take the form of providing staff time, supplementing the salary of the coordinator, or undertaking improvements in the neighborhood.

The Neighborhood Preservation Program provides state funds for repairs to owner-occupied homes in a neighborhood that has been targeted as in need of stabilizing. The money can also be used to upgrade the infrastructure — sidewalks, curbs, etc. — to establish a neighborhood organization or to get lenders to provide loans to property owners.

The program is generally funded at $85,000 to $100,000 a year for three to five years. The Borough first received funding for the Borough portion of the John-Witherspoon neighborhood in 1984. In 1985, the state allowed the Township portion of the neighborhood to be included, with the Township receiving $30,000 that year. The Township was to donate some in-kind services to the program, which has been administered by the Borough and coordinated by Louise Shaw.

In order for the funding to be continued to the Township for the remaining two program years, the Township is being asked to indicate what assistance will be provided by Ms. Repko and what other contribution the municipality will make. Committee agreed to this commitment and to meeting the state timetable for written communication.

Housing 'Utility'

In other business, Committee introduced an ordinance that establishes a housing "utility," a bookkeeping device, essentially, to administer payments to the Griggs Farm development under the $21 million bond issue of last April by which the Township became the banker for the project. The public hearing on the ordinance will take place August 20.

Committee also authorized an additional amount to be added to the Library budget to cover a shortfall created by the illness and early retirement of the Library's maintenance supervisor. Finally, Committee was briefed by John Gaston, executive director of the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, on the status of the capital construction program from the 1989 bond issue, the sewer ban, and re-rating of the sewer treatment plant from 10 to approximately 11.4 million gallons per day.

Foundation Gives Funds For Institute Fellowships

The W. M. Keck Foundation of Los Angeles has awarded the Institute for Advanced Study $1.5 million toward funding a fellowship program in theoretical physics and astrophysics.

The ten-year program, which is being named for the foundation, will support 20 young scholars of exceptional merit and promise. The pool of applicants for the fellowships will consist of talented doctoral candidates and young post-doctoral scientists. Their areas of expertise will include elementary particle theory, condensed matter theory, high-temperature superconductivity, neural cybernetics, theoretical astrophysics, and mathematical physics.

The fellowship will enable promising scientists at the outset of their careers to focus on research. They will not be distracted by the other duties that customarily accompany appointment to the faculty of a college or university.

A notable aspect of the fellowship program is the length of time of the appointments--five years. Customarily appointments at the Institute for Advanced Study have generally been either permanent, as is the case with its 21 faculty, or for one or two years, as is the case with its 150 visiting scholars or "members." The School of Natural Sciences has had five-year members in the past, and their record of accomplishments is said to be outstanding.

The W. M. Keck Foundation was established in 1954 by the late William M. Keck, founder of the Superior Oil Company, who also created in his will the W. M. Keck Trust for the benefit of the foundation. Colleges and universities throughout the United States number among the foundation's primary recipients with particular emphasis in the fields of earth sciences, engineering, and medicine. The foundation also provides support for programs primarily serving Southern California in the areas of community services, health care, pre-collegiate education, and the arts.

His Lovesick Screams Proved His Undoing

A 17-year-old Township resident lying on the sidewalk and screaming in front of his girlfriend's house on Cleveland Lane last week got a reaction from Borough police instead.

Police described the juvenile as extremely upset when they arrived around midnight last Thursday. He had been trying to communicate with the girl inside the house, apparently without much luck.

They offered to drive him home, but while doing so spotted three bags of marijuana in his pocket. He was charged with possession of under 50 grams.

Another Township juvenile also ran afoul of Borough police the same night. His GMC truck was spotted on Spruce Street with a broken windshield, and as a commercial vehicle, lacked proper identification.

While police checked registration data, they noticed several firecrackers in the center console, and an iron pipe, commonly used for protection, under the front seat of the truck.

He was charged with juvenile delinquency.

Mercer County Led State In 1988 Recycling Total

Figures compiled by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection show Mercer County led all New Jersey counties in 1988 with a 38% recycling rate. The rate is based on Mercer's 1988 solid waste tonnage figures recently verified by the New Jersey Office of Recycling.

"These numbers are somewhat surprising, hut they appear to be accurate according to our 1988 figures," said Mercer County Improvement Authority Chairman Peter Yull. "The State Shows 237,161 tons of waste was recycled that year out of a total of 622,673 tons in Mercer, or 38 percent of our total waste stream. We are extremely pleased that we have been doing so well even hefore our residential recycling program was initiated."

Mr. Yull noted that residential recycling adds nearly 30,000 tons to that numher, not including multi-family or commercial recycling for which figures are not yet available. Recyclers are only required to report tonnages to NJDEP once a year, which accounts for the delay in ohtaining the actual recycling figures.

Mr. Yull added the 1988 recycling numbers take into account all waste types, not just those items required hy New Jersey's mandatory recycling law.

All counties must recycle 15% or more of the mandated materials during the first year of its program and 25% all succeeding years. The Improvement Authority expects to easily surpass those reqnirements through curbside collection, multi-family and commercial recycling programs.

Princeton Law Firm To Sponsor Awards

Hannoch Weisman, the law firm at 90 Nassau Street, has announced its sponsorship of the Corporate Philanthropy Awards. Administered by the Community Foundation of New Jersey, the program will recognize and reward corporations which are mobilizing the talents and resources of their organizations and employees to meet the needs of the community.

A jury of corporate and community leaders will select five honorees in each of four categories — education, health and social welfare, environment and the arts. They will be honored at a special "Salute to Corporate Philanthropy" dinner nn October 18 at which one company will he named "Corporate Philanthropist of the Year."

The Stephen and Mary Birch Foundation has donated $50,000 in awards in the form of grant money.

Nominations for businesses whose philanthropic and social initiatives should be recognized will be accepted through August 3.

For additional infnrmation nbout the program and nomination forms, call (201) 535-5312 or (201) 535-5443.

Fall Trip to Cape Cod Set by Senior Trip Club

The Recreation Department will sponsor a trip to Cape Cod and Martha's Vineyard Monday through Friday, October 8 through 12.

The trip includes four nights' lodging at the new Cape Point, with indoor pool, whirlpool, exercise rooms and restaurant. It also includes four breakfasts, three dinners, including a Cape Cod lobster bake, and a buffet luncheon at the Daniel Webster Inn.

There will be a stop at Old Mystic Villege, Mystic, Conn. In Hyannis on the Cape, participants will see the JFK Memorial in Hyannis, St. Francis Xavier Church and the Kennedy compound. They will take a ferry ride to Martha's Vineyard and have a tour of the island. There will also be a tour of Provincetown, with its windmills, lighthouses and cottages, a visit to the Cape Cod National Seashore Park and museum.

Visits to Plymouth Rock, the Mayflower II and Cranberry World are included. The cost is $335 per person for Senior Trip Club members, double oc-

Mark Twain Is Topic Of Talk at the Library

Princeton Public Library will present Elliot Engel in "The Genius of Mark Twain", a light and enlightening look at a great American writer, on Tuesday morning at 10:30 a.m.

Through anecdotes and humor, Dr. Engel will discuss Mark Twain and the characters he created. A professor of English literature at North Carolina State University, Dr. Engel earned his B.A. at Indiana University and his M.A. and Ph.D. as a Woodrow Wilson Fellow at UCLA, where he won the University's Outstanding Teacher award.

His articles have appeared in scholarly and popular journals, including the "My Turn" column in Newsweek. His costumed mini-lecture series entitled Keys to Bleak House ran on PBS stations throughout the country. He has delighted audiences at the Library with his characterizations of William Shakespeare and Charles Dickens.

For more information, call the library at 924-9529.

Septa Tickets Available At NJ Transit Stations

New Jersey Transit officials have announced that passengers will now be able to purchase Septa tickets along with NJ Transit tickets at some stations on the Northeast Corridor rail line.

Septa tickets will be available at Penn Station New York, Penn Station Newark, Metropark, New Brunswick, Princeton Junction, Princeton, and Trenton. Agents will sell one-way Septa tickets for both peak hour and off-peak travel.

Route R7 Septa trains offer hourly connections to NJ Transit riders at Trenton on weekends and during the off-peak hours on weekdays. There is more frequent service during the peak hours on weekdays.

One-way fare between Trenton and Center City Philadelphia for adults is $3.25 during the off-peak hours and $4.50 during the peak hours. The fare for a child is $2.25 and is good at all times. Senior citizens and the handicapped pay $2.25 during the off-peak hours.

Wildflowers for Sale At Bowman's Hill Preserve

Bowman's Hill Wildflower Preserve, established in 1934, is dedicated to the preservation and conservation of Pennsylvania's native plants. Encouraging the use of native plants in yards, gardens, and parks is an important focus of the Preserve.

Bowman's Hill sells native plants and seed to the public throughout the year. Potted plants — both wildflowers and shrubs — are available spring through fall. Selection changes weekly, and most cost between $2 and $10. Hard-to-find or unusual native plants such as Meadowsweet, Pale Corydalis, Wild Hydrangea, Celandine Poppy, and Blazing Star are available.

Seed is available year-round, and can be ordered by mail or purchased in the Twinleaf Shop in the headquarters building. A list of seeds offered is available at a cost of 10 cents. Seed is sold for $1 a packet.

For more information, call (215) 862-2924 during business hours. The headquarters building is open to the public Monday through Saturday 9 to 5, and Sunday noon to 5.

Jewish Center Nursery Has Room for More

The Jewish Center Nursery has been expanding.

There are now six classes with more than 100 preschoolers ages 2½ through 4½ enrolled each morning. Afternoon hours are also available for working parents. The program is eclectic, challenging children in a supportive way in their learning. A special aspect of the curriculum is its Jewish holiday celebrations. The teachers are all experienced, and the teacher/child ratio is one to six.

There are a few places available. Interested parents should call Dr. Shoshana Silberman, education director, at 921-0100.

Registration Under Way For After School Program

Registration is being accepted for the YWCA After School Program for the 1990-91 school year. Serving the communities of Princeton, Lawrenceville and Washington Township, the program provides care for children K-6 grades from the end of the school day until 5:30 p.m.

In addition to regular daily care, the program is available at no extra cost on early dismissal days and from 8 until 6 on most school holidays. The curriculum features arts and crafts, science projects, story telling and drama, musical activities, free and organized play, physical activities, instructional swim and homework time with tutorial help. Daily snacks, as approved by the New Jersey Department of Education are provided. The staff is comprised of trained, experienced adults in a ratio of one staff person to seven students.

The program serves children from Community Park, Riverside, Littlebrook, and John Witherspoon schools in Princeton; Ben Franklin, Lawrence Elementary, Slackwood, Eldridge Park, and Lawrence Intermediate schools in Lawrenceville; and the Sharon school in Washington Township.

In Princeton, a special kindergarten service is offered during the three-week phase-in period. A Before-School Breakfast Program is available for Lawrence Elementary, Ben Franklin, and Slackwood school children. Financial assistance is available for those who qualify.

In order to secure a place, early registration is suggested. For further information, call Rose Nevruz, program director, at 497-2113.

PHS Class of 1980 Reunion

The Princeton High School Class of 1980 will hold its tenth reunion November 23 at the Ramada Inn, Route 1.

Japanese Youths Here On Intercultural Program

A group of 26 Japanese honor high school students and 26 Americans are spending August 1 through 11 on the Princeton University campus attending an intercultural program which is coordinated by the International Center of the University.

Selected from thousands in a national competition based on scholarship and community achievements, the Japanese students, sponsored by the AIU Insurance Company, are spending three weeks in the United States. Before coming to Princeton, the students have visited historical and cultural sites in Washington, Williamsburg and New York City, coordinated by Ventures in America, Inc., of Fairfax, Va. Va.

While at Princeton, the Japanese youths will share dormitory rooms with the American students, who were selected from the Washington, D.C. and Fairfax County areas. Emphasis will be placed on acquainting the Japanese with day-to-day life among young people in America. Daily discussions will include Japanese and American training in educational, moral, athletic and social values.

John Sakala Settling Into New Role as Administrator After 11 Years as Principal of Princeton High School

The face is familiar, even though the setting isn't. John Sakala sits in a sparely furnished office in the Valley Road administration building, the computer he's trying to master on a table beside him.

There are no students milling outside his door: quiet reigns in place of the din of young voices. No longer principal of Princeton High School, Mr. Sakala has begun his new job as supervising principal for Princeton Regional Schools.

He was principal of the high school for 11 years, and it was hard for him to leave. "I think it was one of the more emotional decisions of my life," he said. "It didn't happen overnight. Carol [Superintendent of Schools Carol Choye] and I have been talking about working here a long time. As she can tell you, I always said no."

As supervising principal, he will be responsible for curriculum, instruction, and supervision of staff in grades K through 12. Health, language arts, music, science, and math head the list of curriculum currently being examined.

"We want to have a curriculum that makes sense, that can be shared and reviewed, and that is teachable," said Mr. Sakala.

Eleven years is a long time to head a high school. Was there a philosophy that guided these years?

"The things on record indicate I take a more liberal view of young people," said Mr. Sakala. "My philosphy was motivated by seeing the good side of kids rather than the bad side. I also refused to follow the easy way."

Didn't Go by the Book

The easy way, he said, might have been to deal with a young woman found smoking in the girls' bathroom by opening the policy manual and giving her two days' suspension. "That would have been one way to handle this. It would have created no stress for me."

Instead, he preferred to turn incidents such as this into a learning experience — a way to educate and change attitudes. "I tried to create a dialogue with the student. I tried to involve the parent, to focus not on the penalty but on what is happening in the lives of kids."

It would have been the same if a student came in to complain, for example, that there were too many physics labs, said Mr. Sakala. "I would want the kid to know that he or she had a stake in the school, that his or her opinion was one to be reckoned with. I would do the same with faculty members.

"Ninety-nine percent of what I've done in school was on a one-to-one basis, whether it was a kid or faculty," he said. He plans to use this same approach in his new job, bringing in a whole set of people on each curriculum and defining their individual needs.

He also wants to consolidate the District's educational concept. "There is a great deal of diversity, a lot of diffferent methodology. This has to be shared."

Not Like Other Schools

Mr. Sakala has looked at other high schools and has found "a kind of anti-education feeling" characterized by students "not buying into the educational structure." This hasn't been the case, he said, at Princeton High School.

As principal, Mr. Sakala said he treated students as young adults rather than as children. He wanted them to be given the opportunity to make young-adult decisions and mistakes while in high school.

During his 11 years, SAT scores soared and the profile of college acceptances became even more glowing. He notes however, that other things of importance, such as maturity and self-esteem, can't be measured. This is the area that caused him much agonizing — how to balance academic excellence with wholeness.

"We have had the most discussion at this point — how to find the balance between kids being happy and their maintaining academic success," he said.

High School Chonging?

Over the past year, there has been a sense among a number of students and members of the community that the high school was becoming more conservative. Many students, for example, were angered by the recent change in the attendance policy which reduced the number of permitted absences from 18 to 12 and placed a greater emphasis on parental notes.

Some students accused the administration of censoring The Tower, the high school newspaper. Led by Junior Chris Hosea, a new student newspaper, The Free Press, was begun. Although highly critical of many aspects of the high school, The Free Press ran a largely favorable article about Mr. Sakala.

At a recent School Board meeting, a parent of a recent graduate told the Board, "There appears to be a radical change under way in the high school ... Why return to a more strict system when we are considered best?"

"I think the attendance policy is close to the heart of the kids. It is one of the few rules of the school," said Mr. Sakala. He followed this, however, with mention of the four students who didn't graduate with their class this year, calling this "the school's failure.

"What we are trying to do in the attendance policy is to try to close this failure," he said.

"Nobody reviewed the attendance policy and made changes with malice toward the kids," he added. "Teachers were concerned about those slipping away from us, concerned that we weren't meeting our responsibility to intervene. We have not done it to create a more conservative atmosphere."

As to censorship of The Tower, he said flatly, "there was no censoring of student publications."

Mr. Sakala sees no shift to conservatism at the high school. "I left the school as it had been," he said. "I see no change in its character."

While a national search goes on during the coming school year to find a successor to Mr. Sakala, Assistant Principal Marylu Coviello will be the school's acting principal. In addition to his work at Valley Road, Mr. Sakala will help Dr. Coviello with the transition.

He said he understands that some students may see his leaving the high school as a symbolic shift to conservatism, but he is confident that the transition will work.

"I'm excited for Marylu," he said. "This is a wonderful opportunity for a good person. I would not have made the decision I made if Maryulu was not there to pick it up."

When he's not at Valley Road or the high school, Mr. Sakala, 52, can often be found on the golf course. "Golf is my passion," he says. "And one good thing about reaching this age is that I can now play in senior tournaments."

Another interest is bridge. He has been a life master for the past ten years.

Mr. Sakala's son graduated from the University of Massachusetts, now lives in Boston, and is half-way through his master's in finance at Bently School of Business.

Of the high school, the former principal says, "I miss it already. It was emotional leaving people you spent hours with each day." He also misses contact with the students — "the good and bad of it."

But he likes challenges, and relishes the task of working on things to be done that don't have easy solutions. "Right now I feel good about it," he said.

—Myrna K. Bearse

Deer

ported the ad hoc committee's concerns to Township Committee Monday evening, deer have claimed the undeveloped land between the Princeton Shopping Center and Terhune Road as their own territory. They then wander out onto Terhune Road and Harrison Street, and the area has joined other areas of the Township as a high accident area. "The deer problem continues unabated," Mr. Poole remarked.

A portion of that undeveloped land belongs to the Township, another portion is in individual ownership and the rest belongs to the Shopping Center. The fact that some of it belongs to the Township has prompted the inquiry to Township Committee about how hunting that and other municipally-owned property.

Mayor Kate Litvack expressed interest in the idea, but noted that there is a deed restriction banning hunting on the Mountain Lakes property, which was purchased through the Nature Conservancy with a gift to the Township for that purpose. Park lands bought with Green Acres funds may also have similar restrictions, Mayor Litvak said, adding that it was worth looking into.

"I think we've reached a point where we've got to do something," Mr. Poole said. Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand agreed, saying she had deer triplets on her lawn just that day. Multiple births are said to be an indication that the deer find the environment favorable, Mr. Poole noted.

districts. Four districts were added to the five that were in existence five years ago when Mr. Kiser made an earlier study of Township garbage collection. These districts are in the denser areas of the Township to the north, east and south of the Borough. One of the newer districts was disbanded shortly after it was formed when the residents found that their costs would be substantially higher than they had been for private collection.

Cost is based on property assessment rather than on a per bag or per household basis, and houses assessed at a higher value can have a disproportionately higher cost than those with a lower assessment. The formula for assessing residents was later changed to a district by district basis rather than assessing the districts in a combined manner. This resulted in less of a disparity in cost, Mr. Kiser notes.

Of the Township's 3,832 residential units, 641 receive municipal collection; the rest have private collection. Unlike Borough residents, who put their garbage at the curb without thinking whether there might be an alternative, Township residents have developed preferences for curbside or back door collection, and this is a complicating factor to implementing municipal-wide collection.

Two of the Township's existing collection districts have backdoor collection, the others have curbside. Sixty percent of all Township residents prefer backdoor collection; 40 percent put their garbage out at the curb.

Similar Service

Having all Township residents receive similar service is one of the advantages Mr. Kiser sees in Township-wide collection. New residents moving here from other areas are often surprised to find their taxes do not include municipal garbage collection, and when they learn that some but not all of the Township receives this service they are even more perplexed, he says.

He says the Township would receive full credit for landfill avoidance from its recycling program if it had a municipal-wide program, instead of the partial credit it gets now. He thinks there would be possible cost savings to residents because of the economies of scale in bidding a municipal program. Currently, the Borough pays about $15 a month per customer for twice-a-week garbage pick-up, which includes heavy household items and garden debris. The Borough does not have a spring or fall clean-up.

This unit cost would be higher in the Township because of the lower density, but Mr. Kiser thinks somewhere between $17 and $23 would be a realistic figure. To deal with the problem of backdoor vs. curbside collection, he proposes bidding out the project with several alternatives: twice-a-week curbside service for all residents; twice-a-week backdoor service for all residents; and "freedom of choice" for residents, whose curbs or mailboxes in rural areas could be marked in some way showing which they prefer. He also proposes, a fourth bid alternative, to include the pick-up of non-organic household items on a weekly basis.

The method of billing was discussed at some length. Currently, the Township Treasurer, John Clawson, strikes the billing amount on a district by district basis. The amount billed appears as a separate item on Township tax bills (unlike the Borough, where it does not appear as a separate item) and is periodically adjusted by Mr. Clawson as necessary. It is not tax deductible.

Single District

The Township could establish a single collection district for the entire municipality, but this method would result in the biggest disparity because of differences in property assessment. Or there could be multiple districts encompassing the entire Township, with the cost assessed on a district by district basis, as is the current practice. This would result in less of a deviation.

A single fee could be charged per dwelling, but this would have its own inequities between small and large households. Still another method is a per bag rate, but this is viewed as being difficult to administer.

Mr. Kiser recommends a combination of a base rate and a per bag rate. All residents would pay a base rate for a fixed number of garbage cans per pick-up. Additional receptacles or heavy items would require the use of decals which would be purchased from the municipality. Somerville, for instance, allows pick-up from up to four receptacles per week.

Additional receptacles and/or the use of heavy items requires the use of decals purchased from the municipality at a cost of $3 each. Pick-up of a refrigerator takes eight decals, a sofa bed, washing machine or hot water heater, six, a bureau or bathtub, four, a stuffed chair three, a straight chair, two.

Another decision Committee was not prepared to make Monday night was whether the administrative and billing costs would be undertaken by the contractor or by the Township. But the consensus was that the time had come to look further into municipal garbage collection. Mr. Kiser said it would take him a couple of weeks to prepare bid specifications with the alternatives he had suggested.

Committee will hold further discussions at that time.

Hurricane Season Ahead

How many storms are left for the 1990 hurricane season? No one knows for sure, but it may be that the worst is yet to come. While hurricane season runs from June through November, historical data show that nearly 90 percent of the hurricanes striking the United States in this century made landfall between August and November.

Last year, the Atlantic hurricane season produced seven hurricanes, all of which occurred during the critical August-November period. Hurricane Hugo, the most costly hurricane in history, began as a cluster of thunderstorms off the coast of Africa and attained hurricane status in the tropical Atlantic Ocean on September 13. Hugo's path of devastation took it across the Leeward Islands, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, and South and North Carolina. Hurricane Hugo made its final landfall on the South Carolina coast on September 21 with surface winds of 140 mph. Total damage estimates from Hugo are as high as $10 billion.

Hurricanes can cause severe damage to property, but insurance can provide financial protection against storm losses. According to Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) officials, most homeowners' policies contain coverage for wind damage, but flood damage, often the most destructive element of a hurricane, is specifically excluded. Many property owners discover their homeowners' policies do not cover flood losses only after a storm has hit. A separate policy must be purchased for financial protection from flooding.

Flood insurance coverage is available in any of nearly 18,000 communities nationwide that have agreed to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), and it is not limited to those buildings in special flood hazard areas. In fact, FIA officials say that about a third of flood claims paid have been for losses that occurred in areas identified as having only minimal to moderate flood risk.

Flood insurance can be purchased from any licensed property and casualty insurance agent. Policies are then processed through the federal government's NFIP or through one of the insurance companies that have signed arrangements with FIA, a part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, to sell and service flood insurance under their own names.

There is normally a five-day waiting period before flood insurance policies become effective, so they must be purchased before storm warnings are issued.

Tapes

While defense asserts that all conversations between the brothers and Dr. Oziel were privileged doctor-patient sessions that could not be used in the case, Judge Albracht ruled that none of the communications is privileged.

The grandmother, aunts, and uncles of the two brothers have attended most of the hearings in the case. There was a gasp from the family when the judge announced his ruling.

"If the judge's ruling is upheld, it brings a virtual end to the psychotherapist-patient privilege," said Leslie Abramson, attorney for Erik.

Prosecutor for the case is Deputy District Attorney Elliott Alhndeff. He said the ruling was certainly very important, but not crucial, to the case.

A spokeswoman for the Los Angeles District Attorney's office said she doubted that an appeal to the California Supreme Court would be successful, noting that an April decision by that court limited privilege in the case of threats being made by a patient.

The brothers, charged with shotgunning their parents, allegedly because they wanted to collect their father's $14 million fortune, have pleaded innocent. They remain in jail without bail, and could face the death penalty if convicted.

In the nine years from 1977 to their move to California in 1986, the Menendez family lived in West Windsor, Hopewell and Princeton Townships. Their last area residence was in the large white house overlooking the lake at Mountain Lakes.

Lyle attended Princeton University for two semesters. In January of this year he purchased Chuck's Spring Street Cafe and announced plans to turn it into a nationwide chain.

It was seven months after the slayings that Lyle was arrested, only hours after the tapes were seized from Dr. Oziel's home. Erik, then on a tennis tour in Israel, was arrested shortly afterwards.

The brothers contend they returned home from the movies to discover their parents were murdered.

Princeton Summer Theater Stages "Twelfth Night"

CONFUSION REIGNS as the Lady Olivia (Melissa Friedman, right) falls in love with the strange "boy" Viola (Paige Rogers) in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," the final offering of the Princeton Summer Theater Company at Murray-Dodge.

"I am sure care's an enemy to life," bellows Sir Toby Belch, setting a keynote in William Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, a title taken by the Bard from the holiday characterized by unrestrained revelry, hijinks and masquerading in celebration of the last day of the Christmas season. This rich, raucous, and — many would argue — greatest of Shakespearean comedies reverberates with rampant foolery, wild and unlikely infatuations, devoted friendships, narcissism, lust, mistaken identities, self-discoveries, beautiful poetry and at least one example of deep, sincere love.

Playing at Murray-Dodge Theatre on the Princeton University campus through this Sunday, Twelfth Night is an excellent choice for the third and final offering of the youthful 1990 Princeton Summer Theater company. Besides the fact that Shakespeare's text is potentially moving, outlandishly funny and timeless, it provides a great variety of young character parts for this ambitious troupe of mostly college students and rceent college graduates. (The "most notoriously abused" Malvolio does try hard to suppress the predominant spirit of child-like misrule, but there are no real "adult" characters in this play at all.)

Under the often imaginative, usually intelligent but uneven direction of Princeton University student Rob Melrose, the PST actors present some fine character work and a generally thorough understanding of, and a clarity in communicating, the challenging Elizabethan language. What this production lacked on opening night, however, and might gain with the increased confidence of subsequent performances, is the exuberance, the high energy, the "love of excess" described by Mr. Melrose in his program notes.

There is plenty of youth, talent and energy on stage, and even with some inexperienced performers and some daunting passages to communicate, the PST Twelfth Night cast needs to cut loose, invoke the spirit of unrestrained Twelfth Night revelry, and throw themselves into these flesh-and-blood characters who are almost all larger than life, "wild at heart" as movie-maker David Lynch would say, and confronting situations that take them to the extremes of love, despair, fear or delight.

News of the THEATRES

Pace Too Slow

PST's mostly static scenes with Sir Andrew, Sir Toby and the revelers should "make the welkin dance indeed." Feste the jester's physical nimbleness should carry on from his first somersault to keep up with his mental agility. The three hours running time should be cut by accelerating the pace, reducing the blackouts between scenes — why not more cross fades instead of blackouts? — and perhaps making cuts in the "extra" scenes or in the text itself.

Even though a certain darkness of tone arises periodically in this play, surely the potential humor abounds and needs to be fully exploited, in unforgettable comic scenes like Malvolio's fatuous reading of the forged love letter, for example, as his three gleeful and indiscreet rivals look on from their hiding places.

Paige Rogers plays a strong and sympathetic Viola, the shipwrecked young maiden whose disguise as a boy generates much of the plot and many of the play's misunderstandings. Ms. Rogers is a clear and convincing centerpiece to the play, covering a wide range of physical and emotional territory during the course of the evening.

Particularly effective are the scenes between Viola and the Lady Olivia (Melissa Friedman) where the latter falls in love with this strange "boy"; poor Viola, herself in love with her master the Duke Orsino, finds her disguise has become a "wickedness"; and Shakespeare delivers some of his richest dramatic poetry. Ms. Friedman does not always communicate the presence and stature of a countess (and her unusual costumes do not help her), but this young actress displays an affinity for the role and communicates an emotional aliveness and sensitivity.

Effective Malvolio

As the prudish steward gulled into "midsummer madness," Bruce McCoy delivers an experienced, amusing and effective Malvolio. Though he does not receive necessary support from the staging of the letter scene or the prison scene, his yellow-stockinged, cross-gartered, amorous pursuit of the horrified Olivia is one of the highlights of the evening.

Jeffri Sanders is articulate, intellectual and witty as Feste the Fool, showing seasoned poise on stage and an admirable skill with the language, combined with fine vocal, composition and instrumental (the recorder) talents in several different songs.

Less comfortable in their roles, though also handling the Shakespearean language intelligently, are Louis Anthony as Duke Orsino, Jeff Matey as Viola's lost twin brother Sebastian and Rebecca Stefan as Sebastian's friend Antonio. Mr.

Anthony and Ms. Stefan both must overcome casting difficulties. The former does lack the stature and presence of a powerful, mature ruler — "a noble duke in nature as in name"(?) — and makes an unlikely object of adoration for our heroine; while the latter, and indeed any woman, has her hands full portraying the fearless, manly sea captain Antonio.

Of the carousers stirring up Olivia's household, Harold Langsam as Fabian presents the most consistently convincing and winning persona, though an additional shot of adrenaline would bring Tom Emerson's debauching Sir Toby, Chris Doyle's "foolish Knight" Sir Andrew, and Kristen Bancroft's witty and fun-loving Maria to a highly entertaining vivacity. Mr. Langsam and Mr. Emerson, as the senior members of the cast, bring the leavening influence of some age (at least over 25 to the ensemble.

Able Support

The able supporting actors include Jeff Davis, Helen Chang, Bruce Kennedy and Sian MacAdam, with musicians Jim Ferris and Francis Riesz setting the mood, serving Orsino and providing intermission entertainment on their recorders.

The unit set by Jean Davidson is simple and functional: a stone wall, nine steps on each side, a platform on top and a door upstage center, with a cleverly designed but underused tree and tree house on stage right and a large box on stage left. The multiple levels work, and the words and the staging effectively orient the audience to Orsino's palace, Olivia's house, the garden, the sea coast, and a prison.

Choosing a universal, vaguely Elizabethan but essentially unspecific setting for the play, Mr. Melrose has also "added" three interesting, brief, non-speaking scenes: an opening image of Viola asleep or half-drowned washed up on the shore of Illyria during the storm with tableaux of the other characters in the play standing behind her, a two minute "Bear-Baiting" that certainly evokes the age of Shakespeare though hardly seems to relate integrally with the play, and a brief glimpse of "Antonio's Retreat" after Antonio has been arrested by the Duke's men.

Twelfth Night will be playing at 8 p.m. every night this week, through Sunday, August 12, at Murray-Dodge Theatre, with a 2 p.m. matinee — with a special introduction for children starting at 1:30 p.m. — also on Sunday. Call 258-4950 for reservations and further information.

"The Music Man" Next

The Pennington Players will present Meredith Willson's The Music Man at the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing State Park, for two weekends, starting Thursday, August 16.

Performances are at 8:30 on August 16, 17, 18, 22, 23, 24, and 25.

Two Double Features At Kresge Auditorium

Pelle the Conqueror, a film which won the 1987 Grand Prize at Cannes and the Best Foreign Film Oscar for director Bille August, is showing this Wednesday and Thursday with My Life as a Dog, an exceptional film about children that is not merely a film for children.

These films are part of the Summer Cinema series shown in the air-conditioned Kresge Auditorium in the Frick Chemical building on Washington Road. Pelle the Conqueror runs on Wednesday at 7:15, with My Life as a Dog at 9:45. On Thursday, My Life as a Dog shows at 7:30 and Pelle the Conqueror at 9:20.

Based on the Danish classic by Martin Anderson Nexo, Pelle the Conqueror follows a staunch wide-eyed Swedish boy who has come to Denmark with his aging, destitute and widowed father in search of a better life. Instead, they find themselves virtual slaves on a farm owned by a tight-fisted philanderer and his alcoholic wife. Humiliations and rebellions, courtships and rites of passage, nobility of landscape and lessons in poverty form the material for an awakening of selfhood, which is the real "conquest" the young Pelle achieves.

Max Von Sydow's brilliant performance as Lasse, the boy's well-intentioned but weak father, is the greatest of his long career.

My Life as a Dog is set in the late 1950's, a time of Sputniks and the first Paterson-Johansson fight. It chronicles the experiences of Ingemar, a 12-year old boy shipped out during his mother's illness to stay with relatives in the country where a series of horrifyingly funny disasters plague his young life. Through it all, Ingemar's boyish energy and puckish humor make him one of the most heroically positive characters in contemporary cinema.

Summer Cinema '90 continues Friday through Sunday with The Unbearable Lightness of Being and Last Tango in Paris. The Unbearable Lightness of Being is scheduled to run on Friday and Saturday at 7, with Last Tango in Paris at 10. On Sunday, Last Tango in Paris shows at 7 p.m. and The Unbearable Lightness of Being at 9:15.

The Unbearable Lightness of Being is writer-director Philip Kaufman's screen adaptation of Czech author Milan Kundera's celebrated 1984 novel about Prague intellectuals and lovers, patriots and exiles, as well as his reflections on fate, chance, sex, free will, the history of his country and a dozen other things.

The screenplay by Kaufman and his co-screenwriter Jean-Claude Carriere tells a basically chronological love story which begins in the "Prague Spring" of 1968, that brief period before the Soviet tanks rolled in to crush Socialism with a vengeance. Daniel Day Lewis is Tomas, the handsome, libidinous surgeon who cheats on his wife with dozens of women. In Switzerland, he meets and falls in love with Tereza (Juliette Binoche) in spite of his long commitment to impermanent sexual relationships.

After the Soviet invasion, Tomas and Tereza go off to exile in Geneva, and then return again to Prague, where he's stripped of his job and becomes a window cleaner, while continuing to be unfaithful to his wife.

Last Tango in Paris remains the most powerfully erotic and sexually liberating movie of our time. Marlon Brando plays a middle-aged American widower living in Paris who, in despair, sets up an apartment with an anonymous young girl (Maria Schneider) for afternoons of pure sexual encounter.

These sessions form the core of the film, during which she falls in love with him and he instructs her in sexual experiences that are still new in conventional films.

Romantic Comedy Next For Princeton Rep. Co.

Princeton Rep Company will present Frankie and Johnny in the Clair de Lune by award-winning playwright Terrence McNally as the next offering at George 99, the second stage of the George Street Playhouse, 9 Livingston Avenue, New Brunswick. A romantic comedy, Frankie and Johnny opens Thursday and runs through August 26.

The play explores the relationship between a waitress and a short-order cook in New York's Hell's Kitchen. Carol Kehoe and Sam Guncler portray the title characters, and Francis X. Kuhn is the director.

Ms. Kehoe's New York credits include appearances at Playwrights Horizons, Ensemble Studio Theatre and the American Place. In New Jersey she has appeared with

Packed House Enjoys Professional Production Of "Fiddler on the Roof" at Open Air Theater

Following the somewhat lackluster attendance at some of the Open Air Theatre recent productions, it was heartwarming to see a packed house at this past weekend's presentation of Fiddler on the Roof by Encore Theatre Productions. From the written program, it was apparent that this company went to great lengths to secure professional assistance wherever possible; listed in the acknowledgments were McCarter Theatre and costume designer Marie Miller, who provided the costuming ideas for the extensive Dream sequence in Act I. These professional touches made a significant difference in the level of presentation, which was further augmented by a number of fine soloists and actors.

Fiddler on the Roof is heavily reliant on a solid Tevye, the central character who narrates the story, and whose family serves as the focal point for much of the plot. Jerome Bine said in his cast credits that "playing Tevye has been a dream of (his) for many years," and this was apparent from the exuberant and energetic approach he took to the role. Mr. Bine developed the role more fully as the show went on, but unfortunately had a great deal of trouble with the musical aspects of playing Tevye. Fortunately, he was backed by a solid Golde, played by Sandi Van Dyke, who knew her lines and music cold. Ms. Van Dyke developed good chemistry with whomever was on the stage, be it her three daughters or Yente the Matchmaker, and she often covered for Mr. Bine's occasional lapse in musical memory.

Central to the Plot

Yente, played by Suzanne O'Neill, is central to the plot in her role of chief meddler, and Ms. O'Neill kept her dialogue moving quickly and efficiently. Her chief theatrical focus seemed to be on Tevye's three oldest daughters, played by Megan Moran (Tzeitel), Melissa Erlich (Hodel), and Sheryl Weiner (Chava). These three actresses were cast together especially well, with particular attention to how they looked and sounded together. Of the three, Ms. Moran seems to have the most professional performing experience, which accounted for her appealing stage voice and good acting. However, all of these sisters, especially in the "Matchmaker" number, played well off of one another and presented a credible image of three siblings.

One element of the plot not emphasized clearly enough in this production was the anti-Semiticism which underscores the story. Because some of the minor characters did not speak clearly enough, the threat of the possible pogroms and anti-Semitic behavior was not always heard. To bring this element out would add a touch of suspense to the production and make it clearer that this show is a period piece, concerning a particular time of strife in history.

However, what was clear during the course of the production was the solid musical preparation by Musical Director Richard Anzuini. This cast included a huge chorus, which in turn required some clever choreography and stage direction to maneuver around the stage, and of course efficient preparation and conducting in order to make this ensemble work musically. Mr. Anzuini achieved good choral sound on numbers such as "Sabbath Prayer" and the final "Anatevka." The staging "Sabbath Prayer" also showed some distinct creative imagination in using all areas of the outdoor stage.

Fiddler on the Roof is a popular show, as evidenced by the large cast and the packed house which attended last Saturday's performance. No doubt polishing and refining will continue through the next weekend.

Fiddler on the Roof will be presented again at the Open Air Theatre on August 9, 10, and 11. Ticket information can be obtained by calling 737-1826.

Two Area Children Cast In "The King and I"

Two area children, Colleen Gorman of Plainsboro and Alison Klensch of Lawrenceville, are among the 35 children who will appear in the Bucks County Playhouse production of The King and I. The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical opens Wednesday at the playhouse in New Hope, and runs through August 26.

The Oscar Hammerstein lyrics and book tell the story of Anna, the free-minded English woman assigned to be governess to the children of the King of Siam. She comes to love the King and to exert influence in the eventual democratization of the country. The musical score by Richard Rodgers contains such favorites as "We Kiss in a Shadow," "Something Wonderful," and "Shall We Dance."

The Bucks County Playhouse production stars Bennett Pologe as the King and Wendy Yazujian as Anna. Mr. Pologe just finished a run as Nathan Detroit in Guys and Dolls; also at Bucks. Ms. Yazujian has performed at the Peddlers Village Dinner Theatre and at Bristol Riverside Theatre. The King and I is directed by Ross Roberts who also directed Guys and Dolls.

Performances are Tuesday through Friday at 8:30; Saturday at 5 and 9; and Sunday at 6. Matinees are on Wednesday and Thursday at 2. Ticket prices are $13 for all performances except Saturday at 5, which is $14 and Saturday at 9 which is $15.

MUSIC

Upcoming Season Set By Chamber Symphony

For its 1990-1991 concert series, the Chamber Symphony of Princeton, under the direction of Mark Laycock, is preparing a five-concert salute to Mozart, to mark the hicentennial of his death in 1791.

The ensemhle will explore not only Mozart's own compositions, but those of figures most influential in his life — including his father Leopold — and those whom he influenced most. Among the works of Mozart's musical successors, the Chamber Symphony will present Rimsky-Korsakov's Mozort ond Salleri, an opera in onc act, and compositions by Tchaikovsky and Reger.

The season will also feature pianist Robert Taub, who launched an international career in 1981, when he won the Peabody-Mason Award in Boston. An honors graduate of Princeton University, Mr. Taub has performed throughout Europe, the United States, the Far East and Latin America. His repertory emhraces music from the classical era to contemporary, including compositions written for him by Milton Bahbitt.

For Mozort ond Solieri, scheduled for the November 4 concert, the Chamber Symphony has Invited tenor Pyotr Skusnichenko and bass Serei Archangelsky, both from the Moscow State Conservatory, to perform the title roles. A dozent at the Conservatory and soloist for the USSR National Radio and Television, Mr. Skusnichenko has won recognition in a number of internationol opera competitions. In nddition to his mnny guest performances in the Soviet Union, he has often traveled abroad, to Europe, Japan, nnd the United States.

This fall, he will sing the role of Lensky in Eugene Onegin, scheduled for performance in Italy. A student of Mr. Skusnichenko at the Conservntory, Mr. Archangelsky has played Leporello in Mozart's Don Giovonni on a number of occasions with the Chamber Opera Theater, and is also a soloist in the Blagovest ensemble of Russian liturgical music in the Nikolai-Archangel Church in Moscow.

The Chamber Symphony has scheduled performances on October 7, November 4, January 27, March 24, and April 21. All concerts begin at 3 and take place in Richardson Auditorium. Season tickets cost $80 (regular), $65 (senior citizen), and $40 (children and students).

Single tickets are available at $18 (regular), $15 (senior), and $10 (children and students). Special rates are also available for groups and concert parties.

For further information, call the Chamber Symphony office, 497-0020.

Auditions

The Mercer College Theater will hold auditions for its fall production of West Side Story on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 28 and 29, at 8 p.m. in Kelsey Theater, on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College.

Musical director Richard Loatman requests that all those auditioning come prepared with a song. If the song is not from West Side Story auditioners should bring sheet music. Choreographer Lisa Jaroni Twamley will audition for movement and dance.

The production, directed by Maureen A. West, will be performed in the Kelsey Theater on six dates in October. For more information call 586-4800, extension 581.

Two More Jazz Concerts On Palmer Square Green

There are two more Sunday evening jazz concerts in the series sponsored by the Nassau Inn.

The concerts begin at 6 p.m. on the Palmer Square Green. Admission is free and refreshments, including a variety of picnic foods, will be sold half an hour before the start of each concert. The audience is also encouraged to bring their own picnic baskets.

This Sunday, the jazz group Perception will perform. On Sunday, August 19, Steve Kramer & Company are scheduled. The series is a cooperative effort of the Nassau Inn and the Princeton Arts Council.

Free Outdoor Concert In Cadwalader Park

A free concert entitled "Music for a Summer Evening" will be presented on Sunday in Cadwalader Park, Parkside Avenue, Trenton. The performance area is adjacent to the Trenton City Museum.

The program will open with a selection of popular American songs and arias by bass-baritone Benjamin Seabrook and pianist Sandra M. Pucciatti. In the second half of the program, a brass ensemble composed of 15 musicians from the Greater Trenton Symphony Orchestra under the direction of John Peter Holly will perform n selection of popular and traditional American music including Copland's Fanfare for the Common Man, highlights from Bernstein's West Side Story, and Sousa's Stars ond Stripes Forever.

The public is invited to bring blankets or lawn chairs. In case of rain, the concert will be moved indoors to the Arthur J. Holland Middle School, located on the corner of West State Street and Parkside Avenue.

Saxophone Jazz Group In Free Park Concert

The Saxophone Jazz Ensemble will present a free concert Saturday at 7 at Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

The performance is part of the "Music in the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission during July and August. The Saxophone Jazz Ensemble features Mike Plumeri (sax), Tony Anzivino and Sonny "T" Transetti (both tenor sax), the leader, Bill Maisto (baritone sax), Nick Poveromo (bass), and Lenny Pucciatti (drums).

For further information call the Cultural and Heritage Commission weekdays at 989-6899. For further information the day of the concert, call Mercer County Park, 989-6530.

Loss of Common Sense By Borough Council

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I feel impelled to write to you to express my extensive, increasing dismay at the apparent loss of all common sense by the Borough Council with respect to the parking lot in Palmer House. With zeal similar to the Goths sacking Rome, the town fathers and mothers would propose destruction of the character of Palmer House by blacktopping the back lawn for another parking lot. The University presumbably is prepared to allow this aggression on the character of the town for some obtuse reason.

"Princeton [is] an oasis amongst the ever enlarging vulgarities called suburbia."

The attractiveness of Princeton is not only the common business district and the University campus, but also the homes in and about the downtown area and the western section. They convey a feeling of a more genteel and pleasant time. It should be the function of the town fathers to preserve the essence of what made, and continues to make, Princeton an oasis amongst the ever-enlarging vulgarities called suburbia.

If more parking space is required, why shouldn't the University offer the already created parking around the Baker rink on their property, which lies unused, except for occasional games, or perhaps why don't they use the area around McCarter, which is already largely populated by parking spaces?

I would beg the town fathers to reconsider their decision to mutilate a beautiful piece of property when there are so many other alternatives available. Thank you.

Extra Parking Spaces Can Be found in Borough

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The photograph in TOWN TOPICS of the lovely garden behind Palmer House in no way could do it justice. Therefore I feel obliged to add my two-bits to the mounting protests building up against converting this priceless greenspace into blacktop!

I recommend that all those who side with the Mayor and University on this issue, make a trip down Bayard Lane and see the actual beauty that lies behind those beautiful old brick walls. It is a veritable oasis — a perfect mini-park within a stone's throw of Palmer Square and which might be a haven for townspeople for resting, relaxing, bowling, bocci, etc.

Is there any community more wasteful of available in-town parking space than Princeton? Even a cursory look around town would amaze any outsider.

1. There's Monument Drive: Park diagonally and also utilize the large area between the exit and Morven's iron fence.

2. Tear down that useless wooden fence running from Hulfish to Paul Robeson Place on Chambers and get a city block of curbside parking, more convenient than Bayard Lane.

3. The roof of the Chambers Street Parking Garage has been very empty whenever I've looked down from 100 Palmer Square. Ordinary shoppers have been priced out of that expensive facility. How about special rates for the roof? Better still, lower the rates for everybody.

How many communities could afford for years to fence off an open area as prime as Griggs' Corner, Witherspoon and Hulfish?

There are small-business private parking lots all over town which could be realigned to accommodate more cars. For instance — might the Borough buy a strip from behind Verbeyst adjacent to our Public Parking Lot? There are many more possible extra parking spaces, curbside, around the town; shortening the too-long slots, adding others on one-way streets and so on, at no cost to the taxpayer.

But we spend a bundle for 40-odd more cars behind Palmer House when there is a possible 80 spaces already waiting to be put to use at much less expense? Irrevocably destroying one of the most famous landmarks in New Jersey for the convenience of so few, would be nothing short of a travesty and must be stopped.

Palmer House Land Is Ideal For More Affordable Housing

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It was refreshing to read in TOWN TOPICS of August 1 that the Borough Mayor favors using the University's Palmer House grounds as a daytime parking area. The property's high wall will screen any activity and will reduce the noise of cars moving within the property.

For a long time there has been continuous parking on Boudinot Street. The local residents must find this objectionable. Presumably the Mayor's parking plan will result in a reduction of this.

Since the parking plan is a result of the affordable housing project on Maclean Street, further comment from the Mayor on affordable housing would have been timely. Palmer House is used intermittently to house visitors such as University trustees and occasionally for a class reunion in June.

The University should consider selling the entire property to the local housing authority for use as a site for additional low cost housing in Princeton. This is an ideal, centrally located spot for retired people, many of whom do not have autos. It is a short, easy walk to downtown Princeton and the center of activity in our town. Furthermore, close by is fine bus service to Trenton and New York.

Princeton University was readily able to dispose of the Palmer Square properties to the Collins organization. It would seem to me that the University would be equally enthusiastic as regards selling Palmer House since it currently provides no income, is an under-utilized asset, and would provide a solution to a social problem the importance of which far outweighs any historical issue.

Teachers' Wage Contract Described as 'Giveaway'

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The teachers' wage settlement reported in TOWN TOPICS can only be characterized as an unconscionable giveaway. A contract averaging 9.3% is totally out of line with other wage settlements of 4.2% and in particular, the recent State College teachers' settlement of 4%, 4.5% and 5.5% over three years. IF A TREE COULD SPEAK, the Mercer Oak would say "thank you" to Continental Insurance Company for providing funds for repairs and new lightning rods after it was damaged in the course of several severe early summer thunderstorms. Instead, Richard W. Baker Jr., president of the Princeton Area Battlefield Preservation Society, had a plaque made up of a cross section of one of the limbs and presented it to Kenneth Zeigler, president of Continental International, whose idea it was to come to the aid of the tree. Looking on are Township Mayor Kate Litvack, center, and Margen Penick, with John Mills, curator of the Clarke House at the Battlefield Park in Revolutionary regalia.

Princeton teachers receive a 4% seniority increment for a total settlement of 13.3% a year for three years.

As both a teacher and taxpayer, the three-year contract was an unnecessary commitment in light of the unknown financial obligations on the local community with the passage of the new school aid bill. The school district's percentage of the current property tax is 46%, which will increase drastically if current projections are true. This is in addition to the sales and income tax increases. A one-year contract for a less munificent increase would have been more appropriate!

Paying our teachers is important to the educational well-being of our children. However, according to unnamed sources at the high school, 80% of the teachers earn at least $50,000 per year. I would call that fair! Our School Board has failed the citizens of Princeton with this settlement. They need to be held accountable for how they spend our tax dollars. This Board is incompetent to make the tough decisions that will be required in the present tax crisis!

Even Behind Brick Walls Green Space Is Important

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I couldn't agree more with the petitioners! Palmer House's cool, green lawn is simply no place to plunk a parking lot. There must be a better solution and I am confident that the University and Borough can come up with something, and soon.

And, by the way, I live way across town and have nothing to gain other than the knowledge that the loveliness of "my" town is being saved. To know that there are green spaces, etc. behind brick walls, right in the middle of town, is one of the reasons my husband and I came to Princeton years ago.

Palmer Square Concerts A Joy to the Community

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We would like to thank the Princeton Arts Council and the management of the Nassau Inn for the Sunday evening programs on Palmer Square.

It is a time when neighbors bring their blankets or chairs, spread out on the lawn of Palmer Square, and, from 6 to 7:30 p.m., listen to a band play popular music or jazz. They eat their own refreshments or buy some of the "goodies" that the Inn has made available.

We are reminded of the joys of community that can find pleasure in each other's company and the importance of providing opportunities to do just that! Let's have more of them.

Mercer Oak Repaired

To the Editor, Town Topics:

I am pleased to report that the repairs have been made to the Mercer Oak and the new lightning rods installed. We have been assured that the Mercer Oak should live for a number of years to come.

We are deeply grateful to the Continental Insurance Company who volunteered to pay for the repairs and the lightning rods, and to the number of people who contributed to the Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society for expenses in maintaining the "Oak." This has been a heartwarming expression of our community's support for this important landmark in our State.

The one disappointment has been that the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and its Division of Parks and Forestry has not seen fit to acknowledge to our Society what has been done to assume the responsibility for this project in their Park for which they said they had no funds.

My thanks to all who have participated in this.

Ficarro's, 3 Seasons Tied; Playoff for Second Place

"The Dot's Girls jinx is totally over. We crushed them," said a jubilant Robert Smyth, manager of the Steve Ficarro's Auto Body team last week.

On the last day of regular season play in the Women's Softball League, the Princeton-based Ficarro's team spanked its former nemesis, Dot's Girls, 11-3, in the first game of a double-header and then came back to whip Dot's again, 9-3. With the twin killing, Ficarro's finished the season tied with Three Seasons for second place. Both ended at 22-5, a game behind Grove Plumbing, which won the regular season title with a 23-4 mark.

Because both the first and second-place teams receive a bye in the playoffs, a single game playoff between Ficarro's and Three Seasons was scheduled to be held earlier this week at Mercer Park. Following the contest, the loser was scheduled to play sixth-place Larkin's Gulf. On another field, fourth-place Miller Lite was scheduled to play fifth-place Mercer Spring.

On Thursday, the winner of the Miller-Mercer Spring game will oppose number one Grove Plumbing at 6:30 on Field 3 in Mercer Park. At 7:30, either Ficarro's or Three Seasons will meet the winner of the third-place vs. sixth-place team.

Thursday will be a full night at the park. The two survivors from the one-game playoffs above will meet in the first game of a best-of-three championship series at 8:30 on Field 3. Game two will be held next Tuesday, August 14 at 6:30. A third game, if necessary, will follow at 7:30.

More Spirit, More Hits

In summing up the past season, Smyth found a "dramatic improvement" over the previous year when Ficarro's finished in fourth place with a 19-8 record. "The spirit was better, the hitting was better," he said.

LOUANN LOFTS ONE: Louann Slocum-Robidoux of Steve Ficarro's was the winning pitcher in last week's 2-1 victory in pitching duel against Miller Lite.

"We only suffered one upset to a lower [in the standings] team. The other losses were to Grove and Three Seasons. It was a real horse race; we played well down the stretch."

Ficcaro's ended on the upside. Commented Smyth about the upcoming playoffs, "If we play as well as we did against Dot's, we can beat anybody in the state, let alone the league. There were so many good things about those two games — it was a pleasure to watch them play. It was a clinic. We're talking textbook stuff."

In the first game, Ficarro's pounded out 14 hits, while limiting Dot's to five; in the second game Ficarro's had 15 hits, Dot's seven. Doreen Romanchuk was the winning pitcher in both contests.

The leading batter in both games for Ficarro's ... "once again, no surprise," said Smyth. "Donna Nicholson with four hits in six at-bats, including a triple and a double and four runs batted in." Romanchuck helped herself at the plate by hanging out four hits. She also connected for a triple and a double.

Charlotte Damasco stayed hot at the plate with four hits. Grace Durland, Dee Discavage and Debbie Smyth all had three hits in six at bats, Durland producing a double and a triple among her three. Diane Kelly scored four runs and played a solid game at shortstop.

The defensive gem, said Smyth, came in the second game in the second inning with no score and a runner on second and one out. "Debbie Smyth made one of the best over-the-shoulder, backhand catches I've ever seen. It was an outstanding catch and saved a couple of runs easy."

Hunch Pays Off

Earlier in the week, in another must-win game, Ficarro's found itself trailing Miller Lite, 1-0, in the bottom of the sixth. "We were doing all right defensively but we couldn't get the bats going," recalled Smyth. "We were flat."

Acting on a hunch, Smyth had Alison Aaron pinch-hit for Dee Dee Prickett. Smyth's hunch paid off when Aaron roped a liner to right field for a hit. Smyth then re-entered the speedy Prickett and she scored when Cindy Lombardo tripled.

With Lombardo on third, Nicholson did what the situation dictated: she hit a ground ball to the right side to send Lombardo home with the winning run to make it a 2-1 final.

The veteran Durland had three hits for Ficarro's in three appearances. Louann Slocum-Robidoux was the winning pitcher.

Amazingly, one person in sports history did ALL these things... He was a college football star... He played for 6 different National Football League teams... He played for 3 different big league baseball teams... He was a track star and won 2 gold medals in the Olympics... He served as first president of the league that became the NFL... The person who did all that was Jim Thorpe — one of the greatest athletes of all time.

Curtis Jordan

New Crew Coach Named For Tiger Heavyweights

He made Princeton University's women's crew the best in the nation. Now Curtis Jordan will have the opportunity to do the same for the sagging men's program.

Jordan, who has coached the women for the past seven years here, was named to succeed Gary Kilpatrick as men's heavyweight crew coach. Kilpatrick resigned at the end of the season last spring.

Jordan, a 1974 graduate of Trinity College, has been associated with the Tiger rowing program for nine of the past 10 years.

In 1985, he was named as the EAWRC Coach of the Year after Princeton won the first of two Eastern Sprint titles during his tutelage. In that time, the Tiger women compiled a sparkling 58-15 (.795) overall record with Jordan at the helm. Prior to taking the women's head coaching position in 1984, Jordan coached both the lightweight and heavyweight freshmen at Princeton.

Jordan's 1990 women's crew capped off an undefeated regular season (11-0 overall; 6-0 Ivy League) by winning both the Eastern Sprints and the Women's National Collegiate Rowing Championship. Princeton was the only undefeated crew in the nation going into the national finals on June 3 on Lake Wingra in Madison, Wis., and Jordan's crew did not disappoint.

Internatianal Coaching

Jordan has also been active in coaching on the international level. During the summer of 1985, he was the Junior Men's Eight coach at the Junior World Championships in East Germany. The next year, he coached the U.S. Men's Elite team at the Goodwill Games in Moscow and the World Championships in Nottingham, England.

In 1987, Jordan was the U.S. Lightweight Men's Eight coach for the World Championships in Copenhagen, Denmark, and in 1988, he coached the U.S. Men's Four Without Coxswain in Seoul, Korea for the Olympic games. This summer, Jordan was the U.S. Heavyweight Men's Eight coach at the World Championships in Geneva, Switzerland.

A search for a new head women's crew coach will begin immediately.

Post 76 State Bid Ends In Back-to-Back Losses

It was two strikes and you're out for the Princeton Post 76 Legion team last week in the District One playoffs in the American Legion State Tournament in Linden.

Seemingly on a straight track to the Final Eight round this weekend at Mercer Park, Post 76 was derailed in the space of 24 hours when it suffered back-to-back losses last Tuesday and Wednesday. It marked the first time that Post 76 manager Larry Bender had failed to lead his team into the championship round after making it to the district competition. Bender announced last month that this would be his last year as manager of the team.

After two solid opening wins at Linden earlier, Post 76 needed only one more to become one of the eight remaining teams out of the original 32 entrants in the double elimination tournament. It never got that win.

The first obstacle was Medford, a perennial Legion powerhouse. Medford pounded Post 76, 17-2, dropping the 76ers into the losers' bracket. The loss to Medford was not a big surprise.

That loss set up a rematch between Post 76 and North Arlington. Post 76 had every reason to feel optimistic because it had defeated North Arlington handily in its first outing in the District One competition, building an 11-0 lead en route to an 11-6 final. History was also on Post 76's side: in its ten year history, North Arlington had never reached the district competition before.

History does not swing a bat, however. This time it was North Arlington that jumped out to a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning, as it capitalized on two Post 76 lapses in the field. When second baseman Brent Papciack let a shallow fly from leadoff batter Dean Gatti pop off his glove, it was ruled a double. Gatti then scored when Matt McClenahan fielded a dribbler down to third and threw wide to first. It was a costly error.

Shortstop Butch Bellinger, next up, homered off Post 76 starter Mike Andolina to give his teammates a three-run lead. Post 76 got one run back in the fourth when Peter Prodanov singled with one out, stole second and third and came home on an error. But North Arlington answered with

Basketball Home Opener Now January 11; St. Joseph's December 12 Contest Scratched

Considering what has already been written (TOWN TOPICS, July 18) about the paucity of home games for the Princeton basketball team next winter, it's difficult to believe it could get worse.

Unfortunately, it has.

That lone home game on the schedule between the opening of the season in late November and January 11 is no longer there. The Wednesday, December 12 contest with St. Joseph's in Jadwin has been scratched. The Tigers, who have played the Hawks at home two years ago and in Philadelphia last season, thought they had a solid commitment to continue the series, with this year's game scheduled here.

However, the word is that when St. Joe's hired a new coach he decided a game against Pete Carril's team on the road was a no-win situation. Since the contracts for the game had not been signed, St. Joe's was technically able to back out of the commitment.

"The days when you could count on a verbal commitment holding up are over," commented Sam Howell, The University's Acting Director of Athletics.

In place of that game, Howell fortunately managed to get a home game with Washington & Jefferson. He needed a waiver from the Ivy League to schedule a second Division III opponent.

But, that contest will not take place until Tuesday, January 14, just before exams. So, the home opener will be against Yale on Friday, January 11. There now is no hope of getting a home game in December, but Howell is working on one more road game for that month against a Division I foe to bring Princeton's schedule up to the limit of 26 regular season dates.

For Tiger fans left out in the cold this winter, the answer seems to be for the University to offer a season bus ticket for nearby road contests as part of the package for home season tickets. Several of the early contests are within 60- to 90-minutes driving time. These include games at Lafayette and Lehigh in nearby eastern Pennsylvania (November 27 and December 3); the Manufacturer's Hanover Classic in New Rochelle, N.Y. December 7-8); Rutgers in Piscataway (December 15); and Penn at the Palestra in Philadelphia (January 5). Columbia in New York (February 8) could be added also.

Gianacaci and Rodrigues Win in Springdale Golf

The men's and women's championships were held recently at Springdale Golf Club, and while it was the same old story for the men, a new champion emerged for the women.

Kay Rodrigues, an eight handicapper, earned her first championship at Springdale, when six-time champion Donna Young missed a putt on the 18th hole. Each golfer shot a 79.

In the Beaten Eight, Jackie O'Neil defeated Sybil Hargraves, also on the 18th hole. Others playing in the championship flight included Diane Rubel, Claire Parsells, Nancy Ford, Debbe Pierson, Audrey Gates, Mary Ann Martin, Jean Starks, Kate Litvack, Pat Strazza, Liz Fernandes and Mimi Frantz.

For the men, it was a familiar refrain, John Gianacaci captured his eighth title, breaking his previous record of seven, held jaintly with Brud Cook and Harry Hall. He defeated Larry Pierson five-and-four in the 36-hole match.

Pierson was one up after the first nine, hut Gianacaci finished the second nine one up, leaving the two tied after the first 18. In the afternoon round, Gianacaci won the second, third and seventh hales with two pars and a birdie, and lost the fourth to Pierson's birdie, to go two up after 27 holes. On the back nine, Gianacaci closed out the match winning the 10th, 12th and 14 holes, again with two pars and a birdie.

two more runs in the same inning to ga up, 5-1.

Post 76 managed to scare single runs in the seventh and eighth frames but its bats were not alive this day as they had been in the earlier wins. It could not come up with the key hit. Post 76 was limited ta six hits by starter and winning pitcher Bob Delaney (8-2) and reliever Berlinger, who pitched the last two innings. Prodanov had two of the six hits for Post 76, which stranded nine base runners, two more than North Arlington.

Andolina went seven innings, gave up all six runs and ten hits in absorbing his third loss in five decisions. Post 76 ended with a 19-11 record overall, while North Arlington, which advanced to the state tournament finals at Mercer Park along with Medford, won for the 26th time. It has six losses and a tie.

A RECORD EIGHTH FOR JOHN GIANACACI: Springdale champion, John Gianacaci, shown with fellow golfer Kate Litvack, is now all alone in the club's record books after capturing his eighth title.

THE FIRST FOR KAY RODRIGUES: The women's title at Springdale went to Kay Rodrigues (right) for the first time in a match that wasn't decided until the 18th. With her is Donna Young, the runner-up.

"We went out with pride," said Bender. "They never gave up."

But veteran catcher Greg Papelack, the team captain and cleanup batter for Past 76, who had started for Bender for the past three years and had just played his last legion game, wasn't fooled. "It's really tough," he said, "going out with a loss like this."

Summer Program to End With Davis Cup League

The Princeton Community Tennis Program will end its summer instructional season with its annual Davis Cup League.

In this three-hour-per-day, week-long program, teams represent a different country and compete against other teams in a round-robin format. Players are grouped by age and ability from beginner through advanced levels.

Dates for the League are August 13-17 and August 20-24 from nine to noon at the Princeton University courts. The fee is $35 per session. To register or for more information, call 924-4343.

Fall Tennis Leagues Set At Outdoor Tennis Center

The Mercer County Park Commission will sponsor a fall tennis league at its Outdoor Tennis Center in Mercer County Park for players who would like to have some type of organized activity throughout the fall.

The league will run for six weeks beginning September 7 and conclude on October 19. There will be divisions for women's singles in the 2.5 through 5.0 levels and men's divisions for 3.0 through 5.0 singles. There will also be a women's 3.5 and 4.0 daytime division.

Applications are available at the Tennis Center or may be requested by calling the office at 448-2088. Deadline for entry is August 19.

Planning Board Set to Review Medical Center Addition

A major addition to Princeton Medical Center will be reviewed by the Planning Board's Site Plan Review Advisory Board this Wednesday, August 8, at 7:30 in the Valley Road building meeting room. The replacement of the Medical Center's "B" wing with a new five-story building is first on the agenda, to be followed by the expansion of Princeton Theological Seminary's chiller plant.

The Medical Center's proposed new building is the second phase in a two-step program to modernize the hospital facility. When the construction program is completed in early 1994, all patient care and support areas will have been entirely replaced or fully renovated. However, only 38 new patient beds will have been added, bringing the total number of beds to 293, plus 24 bassinets.

Two major areas of focus in the $54 million construction program are the maternity and oncology programs, which will be expanded and updated. Financing was accomplished through a bond issue, offered last January.

Phase one, under construction now and expected to be completed in spring of 1991, is the addition of two floors to the "J" building along Witherspoon Street where 73 "improved" patient beds will be located. Phase one also includes expansion and modernization of the service building in the interior of the hospital property.

New Five-Story Building

Phase two, which hospital authorities hope to be able to begin this spring as phase one construction is coming to an end, calls for the demolition of the existing "B" building along Franklin Avenue which dates back to 1926. A new five story building is proposed in its place, connected into the "J" building. The top two floors of this building will be stepped back to minimize the impact along Franklin Avenue, and access will be through the existing main entrance of the hospital.

The entrance will be renovated and expanded as part of the project and will include a gift shop and snack bar along with the information desk and lobby. According to a six-page "Report to the Community" distributed in June to the larger area served by the hospital, the public will enter what seems to be an entirely new hospital.

The ground floor of the "B" building will house expanded patient admitting facilities, including registration and preadmission testing areas, an expanded and renovated radiology suit, a new endoscopy suite, a renovated kitchen and space for a variety of support services.

The first floor will include renovated office space for volunteers and nursing administration as well as clinical space for Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation and for Cardiac Rehab, and a new clinical lab including a new blood donor area.

Better Cancer Care

On the second floor, inpatient and outpatient cancer diagnostic and treatment programs will be united to strengthen the continuity of care as patients move from in-patient to ambulatory status. The pharmacy will be housed on the second floor for accessibility for the oncology programs and will be modernized.

A new family unit on the third floor will care for both pediatric and adult surgical patients hospitalized for less complicated procedures and short stays. The current recovery room will be renovated, incorporating space for those admitted the morning of their surgery. Also planned is a small suite for short-stay surgical care and cystoscopy patients.

The addition to the maternity department will be on the fourth floor, and the existing maternity facilities will be renovated. The renovation will feature 21 single rooms along with space for the hospital's new neonatology program for babies that need special care. Single room maternity care allows a mother to remain in her own room throughout the birth experience rather than transferring from labor room to delivery room as the birth progresses.

The fifth floor will house a new unit of telemetry-monitored patient beds, in addition to the existing special care, coronary care and intensive care units.

Focus an Parking

As impressive as these plans are in terms of hospital care available in Princeton, the focus at the Site Plan Review Advisory Board meeting on Wednesday is likely to be on parking. The "B" building is located in the Borough, and Frank Slimak, Borough Zoning Officer, has written a long memorandum on the parking requirements and the variance for 43 spaces that is being requested with this application.

Mr. Slimak notes that "The unfinished state of the J and S [service building] additions and the temporary vacancy of the Medical Arts building may create an artificial surplus of spaces at this time." The hospital conducted surveys in February, March and April and found that of the 397 spaces in its parking garage, 56 spaces remain unused on any given day.

The new "B" wing requires 178 additional spaces. Deducting 56 leaves a shortfall of 122 spaces, Mr. Slimak notes. He puts the hospital's total parking requirement for buildings in the Borough and those in the Township at 1154. He says the existing spaces total 803, putting the hospital in noncompliance to the tune of 351 spaces. He also remarks that if the Planning Board grants the variance request for 43 spaces that accompanies this application, a total of 473 spaces will have been varianced over the years.

Donald Mayer-Brown, Borough assistant engineer, has also written a memo for SPRAB members. His concerns are about the bulk of the proposed "B" building and its relation to the rest of the streetscape.

CoreStates National Bank Purchases 3 Branches

CoreStates New Jersey National Bank (NJNB) has finalized the purchase of three retail branch offices from Cenlar Federal Savings Bank.

In January, both Cenlar and NJNB announced the intended purchase. NJNB has purchased the real estate at the Pennington and Hopewell locations and assumed Cenlar's lease at the Lambertville location. NJNB has acquired deposits of approximately $120 million associated with the three branches.

In addition to a full-service branch office, the Pennington location will become NJNB's Regional Consumer Banking Center.

Consumer credit, small business, mortgage and marketing officers, as well as the management team, will all be housed here.

NJNB is the New Jersey subsidiary of CoreStates Financial Corp. The bank offers a wide range of wholesale, consumer and trust products and services, and maintains 85 offices and five regional banking centers in New Jersey.

NJNB is the oldest commercial bank in Mercer County, dating back to 1804 with the founding of the Trenton Banking Company. The acquisition of the three Cenlar branches increases the number of NJNB branches in Mercer County to 18, the largest bank branch network in the county.

Infocus, Inc., a national marketing communications firm at 213 Nassau Street, has appointed Diane B. LeBas account executive. Ms. LeBas, who will be responsible for the management of several ongoing accounts, joins the firm from Merrill Lynch world Headquarters in Plainsboro.

Prior to working at Merrill Lynch, she was a speech writer for former New Jersey Commissioner of Education Dr. Saul Cooperman. She also taught at Rutgers University.

Diane Knott has been appointed assistant art director for Creative Marketing Alliance, Inc., a Princeton Junction-based advertising, marketing, and public relations firm.

A graduate of Montclair State College, where she majored in graphic design, she has been production assistant at the Pequannock Township Board of Education graphics department, and graphics director for Maxco Publications.

Rick Stein has joined the Weichert Realtors' Princeton Junction/West Windsor area office as a sales associate. A licensed real estate professional for five years, he was a member of the New Jersey State Million Dollar Club in 1987, 1988, and 1989.

Money. As in loans. You see, right now, loans from medium to extra-large are on sale at NJNB. For a limited time, we're offering a special low rate, when monthly payments are deducted from your NJNB checking account.

That means payments can be as low as $235.80 on a $15,000 10-year loan. What's more, in most cases, we'll approve your application within 24 hours. And if you choose a loan based on the equity in your home, you could enjoy tax advantages,* too. Pretty good return policy for a sale item, wouldn't you say?

So if you want to modernize your kitchen, pay for a college education, or finally buy your dream car, call 1-800-542-5626, ext. 621, weekdays 8am-8pm, Saturdays 9am-1pm. Or stop by any branch.

And take advantage of NJNB's loan sale, before we're "sold out."

CoreStates New Jersey National Bank
Member FDIC Equal Opportunity Lender

Helping You Make The Most Of Your Money.℠

*10.99% APR : available for secured loan up to 120 months when payments are automatically deducted from an NJNB checking account. Ask about other rates and terms available. Rates subject to change. Home Equity Loans must be secured by your primary residence. Check with your tax advisor about specific eligibility for tax deductibility. Example: If you borrow $15,000 at 10.99% APR for 120 months, your monthly payment will be $235.80. This includes single life accident and health insurance. Life insurance is required on loans of $100,000 or more. Approval for secured loans may be subject to property search and appraisal. Additional fees may be required.

W. Carl Bullock of Princeton Junction has assumed the position of president and chairman of the board of Bullock Associates, Inc., a company that offers off-site health and benefits administration services.

Mr. Bullock began his career at RCA as a member of its corporate staff financial management training program. He then assumed responsibility for budgets, forecasts and financial analysis for the RCA David Sarnoff Research Center, and was appointed RCA corporate staff manager of retirement plan programs, followed by a promotion to director of benefit plans services.

Also, Nancy L. Clark of Princeton has joined Bullock Associates as vice president of finance. She formerly served as vice president and controller of Cenlar Federal Savings Bank in Princeton.

Christopher Korenjak, son of Barbara and Allen Korenjak, 99 Braeburn Drive, will sing with The American Boychoir in a concert tour of Korea and Japan later this month. One of 27 boys participating in the tour, Christopher recently completed the eighth grade at The American Boychoir School.

While it is in Korea, the Choir will perform at the World Choral Festival which will be held in the Seoul Arts Center built for the 1988 Olympics. It is one of five choirs invited to perform. Each choir will perform individually as well as sing in a joint concert which will include the fourth movement of Beethoven's Symphony No. 9. The Choir will also perform concerts in a few of Korea's provinces as well as one of Seoul's largest Protestant churches and the United States' Embassy.

Following the festival, the Choir will fly to Tokyo for concerts with Japanese youth choirs in the cities of Chiba, Kokubunji, Tama, and Yokohama. It will also perform a private concert at the United States Embassy. The program for each of these concerts will include a number of Japanese choral selections.

The Death of Industrial Civilization, a book discussing the limits to economic growth and the problems facing contemporary society, has been published this month by The State University of New York Press. The author is Joel J. Kassiola, North Mill Road, West Windsor.

A political theorist, Dr. Kassiola has researched and written extensively about contemporary political issues. The Death of Industrial Civilization explores the relationship between our society's commitment to unlimited economic growth and many problems we face today. These include pollution of the environment; depletion of natural resources; and growing discontent with competitive and materialist values. Dr. Kassiola discusses the role of political theory in analyzing current challenges, and looks at some alternatives suggested by political theorists and environmental activists.

Dr. Kassiola received a B.A. degree from Brooklyn College and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in Political Philosophy from Princeton University. He is professor and deputy chairperson of The Department of Political Science at Brooklyn College and has lectured often on political issues for civic groups in West Windsor, Princeton and Cranbury.

BIG — BRAND NEW — BEAUTIFUL

THIS NEW LUXURIOUS PRINCETON RESIDENCE on a very special wooded lot will surely capture your fancy. The two story entrance hall, with curved staircase and upper gallery lends a dramatic touch, as does the two story great room with its interesting and special fireplace. With formal living and dining rooms and handsome library, plus a luxurious wet bar with serving counter and cabinets and a spectacular Siematic German manufactured kitchen with Brazilian granite counters and the latest in appliances, there is certainly everything you could ask for. The UNEXPECTED TREAT — an enormous family or playroom which could provide a bedroom/sitting room for another household member and a full shower bath on the first floor. Upstairs the beautiful master bedroom has two walk-in-closets, fireplace, private balcony and a stunning bath with huge circular whirlpool tub. Three other family bedrooms complete this inviting picture. Call us to hear the whole story and visit this very appealing home.

GREENWAY TERRACE
You have to see it to believe it! Drive through the winding roads of Princeton's "Brookstone". Admire the sweeping lawns, natural woodland and luxuriant landscaping until you discover this country Tudor. Using the traditional stucco and beams, an innovative architect has created a unique house. Massive oak doors open to a tiled foyer, a living room with fireplace and two windowed walls, a formal dining room, kitchen with breakfast area and a powder room. A wide portico joins the living areas to a 3 car garage. Above it all — a spacious second floor includes a family room with fireplace, master bedroom with fireplace, exercise room and bath, bedroom with bath, three bedrooms and large hall bath with jacuzzi. On the lower level a partially finished recreation room. If you are looking for that "one of a kind" house, your search may be over. $615,000

A GREAT PLACE TO LIVE — A GOOD INVESTMENT TOO!

This charming and rather classic 1½ story Princeton home backs up to the famous and historic Battlefield Park. An original Sears Roebuck design, it has living room with fireplace, formal dining room with picture window, a most up-to-date custom kitchen, 3 bedrooms and bath. There is also lots of attic storage space, full basement and a two-car outbuilding. We think this is a textbook example of a house where the addition of one bathroom would greatly increase the selling price. That is why it is such an exceptional buy now. So much value for only... $195,000

A SWEEPING ENTRANCE BRINGS YOU TO THE FRONT DOOR of a wonderful traditional two story Princeton residence. This spacious and luxurious house has entrance hall with curved circular stair, formal living and dining rooms, large family room with high panelled ceiling, wet bar and fireplace opening to oversized two level deck with a view beyond to the spectacular grounds and free-form pool... on the other side of the two way fireplace a fabulous big kitchen.

In addition to all the usual first floor convenience spaces, there is the perfectly beautiful panelled library with fireplace, cabinets and arched bookcases. Upstairs the enormous master bedroom, with its big plush bath including whirlpool tub and shower/stall enclosure, is but one of 5 comfortable bedrooms. There is much more to tell, but best of all to see.

Offered at... $1,300,000

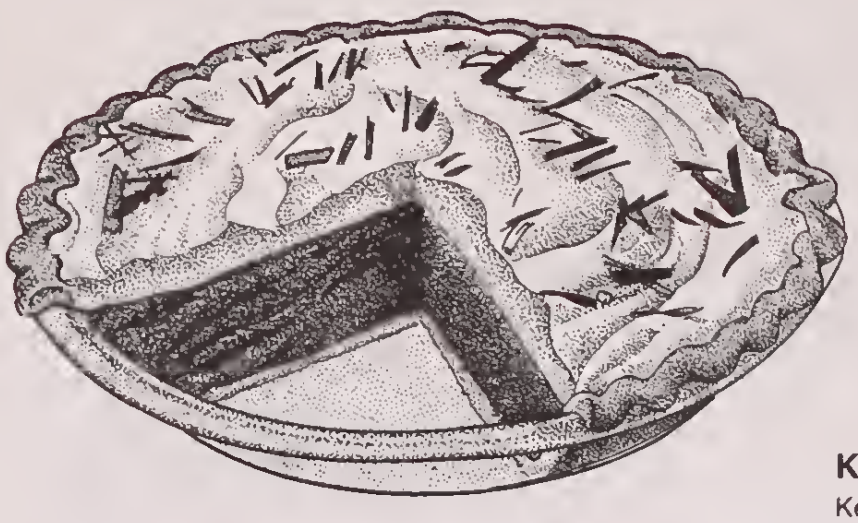
The Rutgers Department of Home Economics Advises...

KEEP YOUR FOOD SAFE



Last night you hosted a party with lots of food. Today your family doesn't feel well. Did they catch a bug or do they have a food-borne illness?

Foodborne illness is a serious problem. Scientists estimate that 12.6 million cases of foodborne illness occur in the United States each year. The cost of medical care and lost productivity amounts to 8.4 billion dollars. The people most at risk are pregnant women, the elderly, young children, and persons with weakened immune systems.

Avoid Cross-Contamination

Many cases of foodborne illness are the result of cross-contamination. Cross-contamination occurs when you get the bacteria from one food onto another food. For example, after you cut chicken on a board, you then slice the potatoes for potato salad without washing your hands or the board. You now have bacteria from the chicken in the potato salad.

Prevention is easy. Wash your hands. Use a plastic cutting board for cutting raw meat, poultry, or fish. Wooden boards tend to absorb bacteria. Wash your hands, cutting board, and knife in hot soapy water before using with another food.

Cook Eggs Thoroughly

Salmonella bacteria has been found in some whole, uncracked eggs. As a general precaution, do not eat raw or slightly cooked eggs or use recipes using raw eggs. Cook all eggs thoroughly until the white and yolk are firm. Commercially prepared eggnog is safe because it is pasteurized.

Cook beef to medium doneness (160 degrees F.) or more. Rare beef does not reach a high enough temperature to kill possibly harmful bacteria. If you eat rare beef, you accept some risk of foodborne illness. Cook all poultry and pork until well-done (185 degrees F.). Cook seafood until done, but do not overcook.

Keep Hot Foods Hot, Cold Foods Cold

Keep hot foods hot (140 degrees F. or above) and cold foods cold (in the refrigerator or on ice). Only put out small quantities of food at one time. Keep food covered to prevent bacteria from getting into the food. The maximum time food should remain at room temperature is two hours. Refrigerate leftovers promptly.

Thaw food in the refrigerator or microwave oven. Never thaw food at room temperature. Some foods, such as prepackaged poultry, can be thawed in cold water.

When In Doubt, Toss It Out

When in doubt about the safety of a food, throw it out. Do not taste the food. Discard the food in a safe manner by wrapping it securely and putting it in the garbage.

Remember these rules for safe food:

1. Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold.
2. Keep food covered.
3. Leave food at room temperature a maximum of two hours.
4. When in doubt, throw it out.

To learn more about preventing foodborne illness, borrow Safe Food at Home, a videotape and study guide, from Rutgers Cooperative Extension. Contact your county office for information.
